n his NFL Hall of Fame speech, Raider legend Howie Long saïd, "Baseball Is America's pastime, but football is truly America's passion." Never has a video game captured the raging passion of an American sport quite like the *Madde*n series from EA Sports. It's hard to believe that it's the Madden series, but its commit-the Madden series, but its commit-ment is still the same: to bring the most realistic football experience possible. Madden NFL 2005 is the culmination of 15 years of sports video-game excellence and we're here to break it down! Some of the stuff mentioned here may be old infor-ation to some of you, but even veteran Madden players need a refresher course once in a while. Make sure you check out Madden 101 with Tony Bruno; it has a great tutorial about pre-snap options at the line, including the newly revamped options for defense. It's simply indispensable and will improve your game almost instantly. There's no right or wrong way to play Madden, but our tips will give you an edge over your opponents. So put your pads on and let's hit the field!

OFFENSE

Anatole Brown

You know the drill: It's about getting that first down and more! Although the defense has been beefed up in Madden NFL 2005, the offense is still where you demoralize your opponent. Timing, accuracy, execution and speed are the cornerstones of the Madden of-fense, whether you're running or passing. Of course, with 11 players on the field, errors will occur, but trusting the other players on your team is critical for proper play execution.

The Run

Establishing the run is usually the first order of business in a football game. Without a good running game, your offense will be limited to throwing the ball and thus will become predictable. That's why announcers always talk about how the running game "opens up the offense," allowing the team to mix up its running and passing game to keep the defense guessing. Unless you want to surprise the defense by throwing a pass, running the ball on first down is the best way to "test" the defense on early drives. Running the ball also wears out the defense faster than passing plays, especially if you keep pounding the ball into the line. It goes without saying that following your blockers is the key to a successful running game, so always keep an eye out for guys like your fullback who will open holes for you as you cross the scrimmage line. The ideal formation for running plays is the I Form since the halfback lines up behind the fullback to get some extra blocking. The Strong I is also a good option, with the fullback lining up on the strong side (the side with the most players) for early blocking. Although the Singleback formation doesn't have a fullback for blocking, it's effective with a versatile running back when you're trying to sell a pass. Out of all the positions in Madden, controlling the running back requires the most gameplay skills because of all the special moves required to get up the field.

d Burst—The most abused button in Madden is the Speed

Burst button. Many players tend to press it as soon as the ball is handed off. But the best running backs in the NFL are patient; they wait until a hole opens up before hitting the jets. By the same token, you have a better chance of breaking through the line if you wait to press Speed Burst until you see a seam develop. Changing speed is a great way to keep the defenders off-balance.

 Juking—Juking is the quickest way to shift to the side when a defender is coming head-on. Remember, the Juke button is pressure sensitive, so you can do a hard juke or a slight shift. The problem with juking is that it slows you down a bit. It's also not recommended if you're moving sideways across the line, because you may end up stepping backwards. A double juke-going one way and then quickly the other way-is pretty effective in faking out a defender.

. Stiff Arm-The stiff arm move can be a little tricky to pull off, but it can mean the difference between a short gain and a waltz

into the end zone. The most important thing to pay attention to when pushing the Stiff Arm button is to see which hand the running back is cradling the ball with, since you need a free hand to perform a stiff arm. You can switch the ball to the other hand by pressing the Stiff Arm button once, but make sure you do it before making any contact with the defender or it could result in an easy strip and fumble.

• Spin Move—The Spin move should be used early if you're going to use it at all. It's a good move to use when you are behind a blocker, almost as if you are "bouncing" off the offensive line. In the open field, the Spin move can actually set you back since it takes time to execute; you may be tackled in mid-spin and end up facing the other way.

· Protect Ball-What was formerly the Jump/Hurdle button in past Madden games is now the Protect Ball button. Hurdling is now automatic if you need to step over a toppled defender. The Protect Ball move is not essential, but may help in a goal line situation where you Dive—The Dive maneuver is best when you're heading into the end zone or you need a few more inches to get a first down.

Diving can make your player fumble if he gets hit while lunging forward, so be very careful.

The Pass

With this year's focus on tighter defenses, you really need to know what you're doing when passing the ball or it could lead to disaster It is essential that you remember all the receiver routes once you pick the play, especially since you will most likely change the routes before the snap with audibles and hot routes when you adjust to the defense. Also, knowing your quarterback's strengths and weaknesses is the best way to get the most out of your on-field general. For example, Atlanta's Michael Vick can take off and run on a busted play, but you wouldn't even think about doing that with a pocket passer like Buffalo's Drew Bledsoe. Some quarterbacks just don't have the arm strength for a long bomb, while others are prone to fumbling when sacked. The I Form is the most versatile formation; it allows you to mix up the running game with the passing game. The Shotgun is primarily a passing formation since it gives ample room and time for your OB to operate in, although there is a sense that the offense is desperate when in Shotgun formation. Also try out the Weak I and Pro Form for multiple receiver options that include your running backs. The Singleback formation is also good for passing plays, but without the fullback blocking you may get sacked a few times if you have a weak line. Again, mix up the running and passing plays so your quarterback can have some room to breathe. Keep the defense honest!

• Lob vs. Bullet Pass—A light tap of the Pass button will have your quarterback throw a lob pass, whereas a hard press will throw a bullet. Your throwing touch will affect the accuracy of the throw as well as the speed with which it's delivered. Determining whether to throw a lob or drill it mostly depends on the type of route that the receiver is running, but there are many times when it boils down to a last-second decision. Lob passes are obviously ideal for the long bomb, especially for receivers with a knack for snatching the ball out of the air like Minnesota's Randy Moss or Philadelphia's Terrell Owens. A lob is also good for corner slant routes so the receiver can catch the ball over his shoulder and away from the defender. Be careful with the lob pass though; don't hang it out there too long or a good defender will pick it off. The key is to throw a lob pass ahead of any defender and sprint your receiver over to the highlighted area on the field. A bullet pass is a very confident pass, since you're basically jamming it in a tight spot for the receiver to grab. However, the bullet pass is also thrown at eye level, so if a safety comes out from the side, he has a good chance to pick it off. Of course, there are degrees of passing in between lobbing and bullet passing depending on how hard you press the button. Learn to develop a throwing "touch."

• Catching—Once you throw the ball, you have the option of controlling your receiver. Quickly switch to the closest receiver by pushing the Switch Player button and sprint to the highlighted area of the field. Press the Catch button to grab the ball. Of course, in zip pass situations you will have very little time to switch to your receiver, so you'll have to trust the route pattern. Remember, the Sprint button when chasing a ball is different from the Sprint button once you have possession of the ball.

• Throw Ball Away—The old adage in football is that if you can't find anybody open, then it's best to throw the ball away and not risk an interception or sack. Doing so is a wise decision that is rarely practiced by Madden players. The Throw Away button is especially useful in a red zone situation if all your receivers are covered; it's best to lose a down and kick the field goal instead of risking a momentum-changing interception.

• Pump Fake—Pump faking is risky since you need plenty of time in the pocket and there is a high risk of being sacked. The defense will actually jump when you pump fake, thus giving you extra time to make the throw. It's a great move before throwing the long bomb, since it gives your receiver extra time to run downfield. You can even fake out the defense twice by doing a pump fake just after a fake hand-off in a Play Action situation. Avoid pump faking if you see any defenders in your periphery.

• Icons On/Off—Basically, the Turn Passing Icons On/Off button toggles between passing mode and running mode for the QB. Always look out for this option, especially if you're controlling players like Michael Vick of the Falcons (or any other QB with a high Agility rating) so you can take off and run on a busted play.

• Play Action and Draw Plays—A Play Action play is when you fake the hand-off to the running back and instead throw a back and instead throw a quick pass. A Draw play makes the defense think that you are the defense think that you are the defense think that you are the ball. Since last year, Madden will actually show the hand-off animation and then show the pass Icons in a Play Action situation. Conversely, a Draw play will put up the pass icons to fool the defense. Don't abuse these trick plays—they're meant to surprise the defense. The Play Action is especially prone to a QB sack if the defense is not fooled by it.

DEFENSE

You've heard it numerous times: "Defense wins championships." But playing defense in Madden hasn't been a whole lot of fun—until now. With Madden NFL 2005, there's a lot more to the defense than just picking a play and sticking to it. Gone are the days of pass-happy offenses forcing completions into double- and even triple-coverage. The defense reacts much better than ever before and the rate of interception possibilities has increased significantly this year. You will also notice that defenders are jumping up and swatting lame-duck passes like never before. Basically, this year's game is much better at rewarding the defense for calling the proper coverage in the right situation. Since you have the option of controlling any defender on the field, your best bet is to stick with your favorite defender before the snap. Picking different players at every down any clue your opponent in as to where you think the play will occur. The most important facet of defense is to trust the players you're not controlling so you can concentrate on fulfilling your role on the field.

First, make sure you know what kind of defense you have. When you start a game, check out the team's favorite defensive formation at the Select Sides screen. The type of defense the team likes to run is usually determined by the strengths of their top position players. For example, teams with talented line backers or safeties usually run a Cover 2 because they can help out their cornerbacks while covering their own area. The teams that run a 4-3 defense like to bring a lot up front to stuff the run and disrupt the pass. Pick the plays that best utilize your talented players, since some packages may even bench your top defensive stalwarts. Make use of plays like QB Spy in mid-yardage situations; it's the ideal call for a potential interception.

DEFENSE

 Hit Stick—The new analog Hit Stick will surely be the most abused privilege in this year's defense. As opposed to the Dive button, the Hit Stick throws all your player's momentum at the ball carrier. If timed correctly, you can cause a fumble. It's also a risky maneuver to go for a big hit since if you miss the ball carrier, you'll hit the ground and most likely be out for the rest of the play (you'll also get a lashing from Madden in the announcer booth!). Using the Hit Stick can also potentially cause an injury to the player you're tackling. It's not foolproof, though; a ball carrier can still stiff-arm you to the ground if he times it right.

Defensive Line Moves—Although all the defenders have the same controls, the way in which you play each particular position differs. Defensive linemen mostly take care of harassing the QB and stuffing the run. As soon as the ball is snapped, press the Shove Blocker button and mash on the Swim Move and Spin buttons to break free from the blocker. The Dive button is the best way to take down an opponent without the risk of overshooting with the Hit Stick.

· Strip Ball-Stripping the ball is a risky, but the rewards can be great. The problem with going for the strip is that your player is not working to take the balkarrier down. You always hear about defenders messing up by going for the ball rather than making the tackle. Tackling a player is always the smart way to play; go for the strip only if you're desperate.

• Catch vs. Swat-Defensive backs are usually the ones to get their hands on the ball. With the new Strafing move. you can face the QB while moving laterally so you're always in position for an interception. Use the Catch button when you're close to the ball; the Swat button is effective, but the Catch button essentially does the same thing if you fail to grab the interception. You may be risking proper coverage by going for the interception in the real NFL, but the difference is so subtle in Madden that it's negligible. The swat move is useful if you're approaching the ball from a considerable distance and need to outstretch your arm to make a last-second save.

SPECIAL TEAMS

The kicking and punting drills in the Mini-Camp mode are excellent for understanding the mechanics behind a strong and accurate kick, especially the Coffin Corner Punt drill. On kickoffs and punts, angling your kick away from the primary return man is the best approach, especially if you're kicking to dangerous returners like Dante Hall of the Kansas City Chiefs. Also, by kicking toward one side of the field, you are creating a wedge and giving the returner less space in which to operate. Remember, the more power you put into a kick, the faster the downswing of the Kick Meter when lining it up for accuracy. But probably the most important tip this year for Madden NFL 2005 is the utilization of the Fair Catch button when catching a punt. The Fair Catch button used to be superfluous in Madden, since fumbles were very rare when catching a punt. This year. however, if you don't call a fair catch and the defense is right in front of you when you catch the ball, the ensuing hit is almost guaranteed to cause a fumble! This can really make or break a game; not calling a fair catch can be riskier than going for it on fourth down! The key to the fair catch is that you must have control of the kick returner in order to call a fair catch. So every time you line up with your punt return squad, make sure you the first thing you do is to gain control of the returner before the kick. If you do have a blocker near you when you're running the ball on a kick return, you can use the Play-Maker function to quickly assign a blocking scheme for that blocker. It's difficult, because it's almost like controlling two players at once, but the result can be a huge gain on the return.

PRE-SNAP ADJUSTMENTS

Just because you've picked a play it doesn't mean you're ready to hike the ball. Today's NFL is all about on-the-fly adjustments before the snap; some teams like the Colts rely on it exclusively. It used to be that only advanced Madden players would occasionally use motion and audibles, but with the addition of the PlayMaker functions, adjustments at the line have become an integral part of the game. If you're going to play online or in tournaments, you can't afford to ignore all the pre-snap adjustments that are available. Once you grasp the basics, you'll find yourself motioning, assigning hot routes and using the PlayMaker controls all at once just for one play! Be sure to set up at least three audibles before starting a game, including a run, a short pass and a long bomb. You can also flip the play at the line of scrimsnort pass and a long borino. You can also hip the play at the line of scrimmage with the Flip Play command if you see a clear mismatch on one side. Always use the Coach's Cam (preferably without the play diagram, if it's a human opponent) to check out the field so you can see where the mismatches are. Lastly, choose each play quickly so you have enough time to make adjustments before the play dock expires.

• Motion-Motion allows an eligible player to move before the snap so he can execute his assignment at a different part of the field and cause a mismatch. Motioning a player to another part of the formation can allow him to get to a more open area in relation to the defensive coverage scheme; you can also use motion to create an extra blocker on the weak side or bluff the defense into thinking that you're concentrating on one side.

 Hot Routes—Hot Routes let you change the running routes of any receiver at the line. Before the snap, press the Hot Route button followed by the button that corresponds to the receiver whose route you want to change. You can then assign a fly, curl, in, out, slant or post pattern. Watch how the defense lines up to determine how to change the route. Is the cornerback giving you a cushion by stepping back from the line? He may be expecting a long bomb, so choose a curl pattern. Are the safeties gathering around the center of the field? That means they're expecting something down the middle, so you may want to change to a slant pattern. You can also command a player to block instead of running downfield if you feel a nasty blitz coming.

DEMONS DON'T JUST BREAK THE RULES. They dismember them.

Underdog is an understatement when you're up against some of the most diabolical, back-stabbing creeps to ever slime their way into a fighting tournament. So keep your wits about you or you'll end up losing your head.

PRE-SNAP ADJUSTMENTS-

· PlayMaker-PlayMaker on offense is just like the hot routes except it only applies to the primary receiver in a passing play. You can still use the hot route system to change the receiver's pattern, but the PlayMaker function is more convenient if you just want to direct the main receiver. For running plays, the PlayMaker function is indispensable; you can use it to tell the running back to go left or right just before the snap. If the defense is bunching up one side, simply go the other way.

PRE-SNAP DJUSTMENTS

It's essential that you check out Madden 101 for all the new defensive features. Movement in the defense is very intimidating and can have a psychological effect on the offense. But play smart...don't get burned!

- Shifting—Use the defensive line and linebacker shift commands to spread out, tighten up the middle, bank left or bank right. Shifting lets you anticipate where the run is coming from. It can also give you a nice spread of the field if you sense some holes in the defense.

Coverage Audibles—Coverage audibles mostly affect players in the backfield and how tightly they cover their assignments. You can back off receivers if you expect a long pass or go into bump-and-run coverage to jam the receivers. You can even disguise the defense to look like a blitz when you really expect a pass, but the formation looks unlike any other play and might not fool your opponent. Man coverage audibles are almost necessary when you call a man coverage defense; not for changing the coverage scheme, but to clean up the alignment so every player is assigned to a man. Individual coverage audibles are also possible. If you're in a Cover 2 scheme, you can command the safeties to double-team receivers.

. Formation Shift-With all the options for moving your players around before the snap, the formation shift is certainly not a first option. Formation shifting changes the routes of several receivers and unless you want to expose your play diagram with the Coach's Cam, ple by focusing on key players.

- you'll most likely be confused when the ball is snapped. You want to keep the defense on the edge, but keep your adjustments sim-
- 2 Minute Drill—Games will come down to the wire in Madden, so make sure you know all the quick no-huddle-style buttons like Time Out, No Huddle, Spike and even Fake Spike (like Dan Marino's famous fake play). Pre-snap adjustments are vital in a no-huddle offense for making changes quickly.

 PlayMaker—Last year, using PlayMaker on defense only allowed you to make a quick adjustment at the snap. Now you can assign defenders individually on the field. Of course, it's better to use coverage audibles and line shifting than to give multiple commands before the snap. One of the most useful defensive PlayMaker commands is to pick one player to spy the QB. This allows other players to run their assignments rather than having multiple players in QB Spy

• Flip Play-If no defender is covering the slot receiver, it usually means that the offense has flipped the play. You'll need to do the same if you don't want to get burned. Be quick, though; the offense can still snap the ball during the transition to catch your defenders off-guard. Sometimes it's better to simply move a safety or linebacker to the slot position. Defenders will usually change their assignment automatically when brought near a particular area.

routes to exploit holes in the defense and go long to the tight end if your wide re-

MINI-CAMP

If you want a great resource for learning all the gameplay mechanics behind Madden NFL 2005, then the Mini-Camp is the best place to start. A form of the Mini-Camp is also available in Franchise mode, allowing you to boost your players' ratings during the off-season. Special Madden Cards will become unlocked if you get a gold trophy in a Drill or complete a Game Situation scenario. Veteran Madden players are also encouraged to tackle the Mini-Camp mode to brush up on their skills; besides, it's a lot of fun!

Think of it as a hardcore shoot-'em-up game, but you're avoiding flying balls rather than bullets. Use your peripheral vision when determining which icon to throw to; you will not survive if you move your eyes up and down the screen. Consecutive completions will increase the amount of points you score, from 25 points for your first completion up to 100 points per completion. Getting sacked subtracts 25 points from your score and restarts the scoring system from scratch. Don't worry too much about leaving the pocket every now and then, just make sure you get back in quickly or you'll lose 25 points. Keep moving! Chase and Tackle is probably the easiest Drill in Mini-Camp. You can switch between defenders if your first line of defense misses a tackle, thus ensuring that you still get a User Tackle Bonus, Don't be afraid to use the Hit Stick to cause a fumble, which will give you even more bonus points. The Sprint button will help you chase down the running back, but be careful not to over-pursue. In the Game Situation, the opposing team will most likely run the ball on every play to eat up the clock. Using the Goal Line formation gives you a good chance of stuffing the run in the backfield. If all else fails, you can cheat and use the Field Goal Block play to create a giant wall at the line of scrimmage! Also, you may want to call a fair catch when the opposing team punts the ball awaythere's nothing more frustrating than fum-

The Swat Ball Drill may seem like a handful at first, but once you get the timing right, it's the most addicting challenge in Mini-Camp. Use the Sprint button to run from one post to another and make sure you're ready to take off in any direction as soon as you attempt to catch or deflect a pass. Interception Bonuses are really your only chance to qualify for the Gold reward, so forget the Swat button and try to catch every ball. Make sure you use the Face button to have your receiver turn around and face the ball right before jumping up to grab it. Luck plays a small part in this Drill, since the passing pattern is random; sometimes the throwing machine will constantly have you running from one extreme side of the field to the other, making it impossible to keep up. Just restart and you'll eventually get a favorable throwing pattern that will allow you to intercept a high percentage of passes without moving around too much. In the Game Situation, try using QB Spy and Cover 2 or 3 plays to force an interception.

The best move for this drill is the Shove button. As you're running downfield, hold down the Shove button just before you make contact with the next lineman; there's a good chance he will fall over without any resistance. When you do get caught up with a lineman, mash the Rip, Swim and Shove buttons and juggle yourself free. In the Game Situation, make sure your secondary is covering the wide receivers, since you will not be able to control anybody else except the defensive linemen. With the passing lanes covered, it allows you to harass the quarterback and possibly get a sack. Since the game is on the line, the computer will use a hurry-up offense after every completion and will go for it on fourth down, so be prepared. Sometimes the secondary will grab an interception and complete the challenge for you!

Clutch Kicking is all about power and accuracy with the kicking meter. It's also about keeping the time between kicks to an absolute minimum. There is actually a brief moment just before the start whistle blows when you can begin the kick meter sequence, thus giving you a head start before the clock starts counting down and possibly giving you one extra kick before time expires. In the harder levels, the wind meter will show a slight breeze, but if you kick the ball with enough force and accuracy, a little zephyr shouldn't matter. Besides, you have very little time to make careful angle judgements on each kick. Getting a gold reward often will come down to the very last kick, so just line 'em up and boot 'em. In the Game Situation, you start on third down, giving you a chance to get closer to the end zone with one more play and a quick time out before bringing in the field goal unit. You can also be bold and go for a touchdown and still complete the challenge if you have a potent offense. For example, at the All-Madden level when you play as the Eagles, simply throw a long bomb to Terrell Owens in the end zone and win the game with one play!

The Coffin Corner Punt is no easy task in the later levels. Not only do you have to judge the punting angles correctly, but you also have to execute perfect punts with enough force and accuracy into the deep corners. First of all, determine which foot the punter uses to kick the ball, For example, Chris Hanson of the Jaquars is a left-footed kicker, so kicking toward the right corner gives him a better kicking angle and better control. Point the kicking arrow downward rather than kicking the ball high in the air; line drives are easier to control and will give your kicker more accuracy. The wind is usually calm and shouldn't be a factor, but in the All-Madden level it kicks up to about 13 mph, giving you a bit of a challenge. Interestingly, we found that the Coffin Corner Punt is much easier when played on a small TV screen. Somehow the larger TV screens made the punting angles very difficult to judge. Since you are randomly placed at different areas on the field every time you punt, pay close attention to how far you are away from the end zone and which side of the field you're standing on (right, middle or left). The Game Situation is played exactly like the Drill for this challenge.

This quarterback drill is all about memorizing the timing and angles of each pass. The key is to align yourself with the receiver at the perfect angle so the ball goes through the ring when you throw it to him. Most of the rings are angled in such a way that you never have to leave the pocket when throwing the pass. Occasionally, however, you have a better chance of getting the ring exactly in between you and the receiver if you move out of the pocket a little to the left or right. A Catch Bonus is almost guaranteed if the pass is thrown correctly through the ring. You can also get a Turn Bonus if you complete all the rings before using up all the turns for each play. You will need Catch and Turn bonuses if you want to score a gold reward. Almost all of these passes should be bullets and not lobs. The Game Situation is exactly the same as the one in Pocket Presence where you need to lead an aer-

The most challenging Drill is without a doubt the Ground Attack. Each running play is randomly generated, so there is a certain element of luck when it comes to running from a favorable formation. The fullback is your best friend in this Drill: he usually blocks the first oncoming defender, so it's a good idea to follow his lead until the first block has been established. After the first block, it's up to you the rest of the way to get to the end zone. The two most effective moves in this drill are the juke and stiff arm move. The spin move is suggested in the instructions screen, but we find that it takes too long to execute and the computer doesn't get fooled by it too often. The stiff arm can knock down any defender if you time it correctly, but you also have to make sure that the ball is in the opposite arm when shoving the opponent. The juke move is a great way to fool a defender, especially when they have committed to a line of pursuit. Make sure that you're running vertically up the field when using the juke; a juke when moving sideways usually results in a loss of yards. Remember that the juke is pressure sensitive; a soft touch will only do a small shift, whereas a hard button push will have the runner swing to the side. Always use the Dive button when you approach the end zone so you save time on the clock. Don't be afraid to go the opposite way right after the snap, like you're running a counter play; the defense will often be fooled by this. In the Game Situation, the key is to kill the clock by getting first downs. Snap the ball when the play clock dwindles down to a few seconds to "milk" the game clock.

MADDEN CARDS

Madden Cards come in packs and can be purchased with the Tokens you've earned by completing various challenges. Each pack costs 100 Tokens, and like baseball cards, what you get is completely random. Some of these cards have to be earned in the Mini-Camp mode and cannot be purchased. However, any of the cards can be acquired when you trade with others. You can also earn cards by increasing your EA Sports Bio Level. If you want to cheat, you can unlock cards by entering the corresponding codes in the "Madden Codes" option.

The car's featuring today's top NFL players can be activated during a game to juice up the corresponding player's ratings by 25%. Each card has three versions: Bronze, Silver and Gold. A Bronze card will boost your player's ratings by 25% for one play, a Silver card will do so until the end of the quarter and a Gold card boosts his stats for the rest of the half. Once a card is used in a game, you will lose the card. *Note: Eight of these cards can only be earned by getting a gold trophy at All-Madden difficulty in the Mini-Camp drills (see Mini-Camp) and only come as Gold cards follations the most property of the property of the cards and the cards and the cards are cards are cards and the cards are cards

Cheats

Cheat cards can be used during a game to help you or hinder your opponent. Each card is used up once it is activated. In most cases, Bronze Cheat cards let you use the cheat for one play, Silver cards activate the cheat until the end of the current quarter and Gold card cheats last until the end of the current half. Note the exceptions below:

Cheerleader & Pump Up Crowd

Your QB can throw past the line of scrimmage

These cards only come in the Gold variety and will pump up the crowd for the corresponding team when used.

Almost all of these cards must be earned by completing the game situations in the Mini-Camp (see Mini-Camp). The only exceptions are the Bengals, Cowboys, 49ers and Rams Cheerleader cards which can be purchased in the random packs.

GAMEPLAY0&A

Qr What are the main differences between this game and Madden?

Az The ESPN NFL series has been gradually becoming more simulation-oriented, so there's less of a difference than there was in the pick-up-and-play days of NFL 2K on the Dream-cat. ESPN has more of an "assistance" factor when it comes to the passing game than Mad-den does. More often than not, computer-controlled players in ESPN will automatically attempt to catch or intercept a ball thrown in their general direction, which makes the game feel a bit more "automatic" and slightly arcadelike. In Madden, you must hold down the Sprint button to gain speed, whereas in ESPN you'll need to tap the button repeatedly for a speed burst. The overall game speed of ESPN seems slightly faster, and your defensemen have better reaction time and speed compared to Madden. Obviously, there are also different playbooks in each game; Madden seems to have better strategic plays, including Squib Kicks!

Q: Whenever I try to use linebacker adjustments before the snap, I can't get them to spy the quarterback. Is there something wrong with my game, or does the QB Spy feature not work?

A: You can only assign a line-backer to spy the quarterback on the fly if you're playing zone defense, and it won't work if you're blitzing or double-teaming. Also note that the player who is spying the QB may break off his assignment and return to zone coverage if an eligible receiver enters the territory that he was originally assigned to defend.

Saints	Colby Bockwoldt	LB
Titans	Antowain Smith	RB

Q: I don't have time to do all of that administrative stuff in Franchise mode; I just want to play the 2004 season. Is there a Season mode in this game?

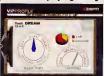

As Sure. You're still going to have to go into Franchise Mode, but you can just turn off the "Weekly Preparation" options and set all of the drafting, signing and depth chart options to "Assistant Coach" so you don't have to deal with them. The 2004 season will be ready for immediate play. Note: The preseason ate play. Note: The preseason schedule is randomly generated, but the regular season schedule mirrors the real-life NFL match-ups.

Q: Exactly what kind of information is stored in my VIP profile? Can I play a game against my own VIP?

A: Check out the VIP Viewer option to see a complete breakdown of your playcalling tendencies, the special moves you use most often and even the type of tackles you use. The VIP also keeps track of performance results, like yardage earned/allowed and your third- and fourth-down conversion percentages. For example, let's say you typically covert 75% of your third-down attempts; when someone plays against a computer-controlled team with your VIP profile, that team should also have converted about 75% of its third-down attempts by the end of the game. You can "play against yourself" by choosing "VIP Coaches" from the Coach Matchup screen after selecting your team and choosing your own VIP Profile.

Q: I own both a PS2 and an Xbox. Which version should I buy? Are they both the same?

A: In terms of features, the only major difference is that the Xbox version shows video clips of highlights in the halftime and post-game recaps (compared to still photos in the PS2 version); you can also view replays after a game. Fortunately, these features will also he-come available on the PS2 if you have the internal Hard Disc Drive.

ONLINEO&A

Q: Got any tips for online players?

A: There are certain techniques that work in offline games that won't work online, and vice versa. The biggest adjustments you'll have to make are in your passing game; it often takes a split-second longer for your receiver to get to his "spot" on a passing route. As a ballcarrier, mastering the juke move is crucial because of the slight reaction time involved. If you can learn to telegraph a juke by tweaking

the right analog stick a split-second before you would normally do so in an offline game, you'll find that an oncoming defender is more likely to be fooled; by the time the game reacts to his

"take," you're already heading in a different direction. Playing safe and taking less chances is the way to succeed in online play. You will also notice that there are a lot of online competitors who don't play fair, i.e. trying to go for two-point conversions after every touchdown and attempting an onside kick at every opportunity. Beating a cheater just makes winning

Q: I've had the game for a month, and there are still no roster updates online! When will they be available?

A: The first online roster update should have appeared around September 7 for the start of the NFL season. Visual Concepts plans to make additional roster updates available for download on the following Tuesdays:

October 12 (Week 5) November 9 (Week 9) December 7 (Week 13) January 3 (Week 17) February 1 (Pre-Super Bowl)

CRIBO&A

Q: The instruction manual says that ward for beating all of the celebrities. We think the "nifty surprise" might be the ability to play each of them again at any time instead of sitting around and waiting for them to call you.

Q: What's the fastest way to earn Crib Credits?

A: The easiest and fastest way to earn Crib Credits is to play and win games against the computer opponent, especially while scoring lots of defensive touchdowns, Fumbles and interceptions returned for scores are worth almost as many points as some Career Milestones! If you use the "Player Create" and "Team Create" options to create a fantasy team of seven-foot superstars with a rating of 99 in every statistical category, you'll have an easier time achieving milestones at the All Pro or Legend difficulty settings, where the Crib Credits are multiplied.

Q: The "Menu Milestones" in the User Card have cryptic names; I don't understand what I'm supposed to do to get some of them.

A: The Menu Milestones give you easy Crib Credits just for checking out various features and options in the game. Here's how to clear each milestone, in plain English:

Q: How do I unlock the catalogs?

A: The catalogs are unlocked by accomplishing milestones; check the User Card and Milestone Info options in the Crib to see how many you have and what's left for you to achieve. You will earn the opportunity to unlock a new catalog at the following intervals:

7th catalog	105 milestones

Note that you don't unlock the catalogs in a specific order; instead, you earn the choice to unlock one of several different catalogs at each of the above intervals. The Endzone catalog is always the last one to appear.

Q: What's available in each catalog?

ve always had a soft spot in my heart for Mega Man. so when I was asked to play Command Mission and write a strategy guide for it, I jumped at the chance. If you care at all about Mega Man games or role-playing games, you'll be delighted to learn that this title gives you the best of both. I've crammed as much useful info as I could into this strategy guide...hey, we aren't called "the #1 Video-Game Tips Magazine" for nothing!

There are tons of items to find and collect in Command Mission, and some of them can only be found after certain prerequisites have been met (like finding keys or returning to a stage later on in the game). Some items that you pick up may be very rare, and only one or two of these items may exist in the game, so double-check everything before you sell any of your stuff. Com mand Mission features a unique item-tracking system, where you will be able to track how many items you've collected from a level and how many you missed. Once you unlock the Sky Room, you'll be able to check this information. If you want to know how far along you are in collecting items, check the Sky Room computer terminal for the "Item Acquisition %" screen under the "View Data" option. If you pick up an item while in a stage and you already have the maximum number of these items in your inventory, this item will NOT count as being collected according to the data system. You will have to find a way to drop the item from your inventory first and collect it again for it to count.

This includes Sub Tank energy! Don't fret if you miss some items along the way; just mosey on over to the Air City Shopping Arcade and talk to one of the vendors. She will teleport you to any of the stages you have cleared thus far and allow you to look for any items you may have missed.

While you're walking around, check your map from time to time. Any item that you have not collected will appear as a blue dot on your map, making it easier to see. Some items are well-hidden, so check side tunnels and rooms, and look in unexpected places such as behind computers or enemies.

There are several sets of figures that can only be purchased through the vending machines in Air City. Look for these vending machines near the Shopping Arcade and 3rd Street areas. Each figure costs two Figure Tokens, so be sure to pick these up from the field when you see them. If you're playing the GameCube version, you can use the Treasure Radar to locate any Treasure Tokens that can also be used to purchase figures. Look for the figures to be displayed in the collection case in the Sky Room after you buy them.

I had written a complete walkthrough of the game, but I had to cut it down to the bare essentials just to get it to fit into nine pages! So while the remaining text won't take you by the hand through every area, I will be telling you where to find all of the items and how to beat the bosses.

Infiltrate Giga City—Lagrano Ruins

Area 2F East

Check the second room on the right for an Anti-lock, and the end room for some Zenny.

Check the second room on the right to pick up a Melt Missile. Collect the X's Heart and LE +100 Force Metals after defeating the Rebellion's Guard outside of this room

East Area Stairs, 3F to 4F

TIP: XP-Earning—This area is a good place to get experience points if you're trying to level up. Rebellion's Guards infest the halls here, and they give you a large amount of XP (20 per unit) while being relatively easy to defeat.

Area 4F East

Down the hallway to the left, collect the Backup and Build Shield items.

Test Hall 1

cern in the hattle with Hippopresser should be the Shark Missile that the creature carries on its back. Attack the missile first; it can easily do 500 points of damage to both X and Zero. Once you have destroyed the missile, concentrate your attacks on Hippopresser. After sustaining some damage, Hippopresser's head will explode, revealing a deadly HippoParticle cannon. When this happens, be on your guard; a combination of the HippoParticle cannon and a Shark Missile can disable either character. Watch your LE numbers carefully, and it they get too low, quickly use one of your Sub Tanks to heal yourself. Continue alternating attacks between the Shark Missile and Hippopresser to defeat the robot.

After the battle, collect the Guard Buster and Fire Missile, then grab the Speed +1 and Power +1 Force Metals from the room.

Area 4F West

Grab the Tank Parts and 80 Zenny from the item box in the hallway

Area 5F West Get the Vaccine

Program and Reboot items from the item boxes before taking the door outside.

Recapture Central Tower—Central Tower

Shaft 999F TIP: Zenny-Earning—After leaving the building and entering the hallway outside, you can encounter creatures called "Zenny-Droppers." Although difficult to hit, Zenny-Droppers give you 200 Zenny per creature. If you fail to destroy them in the first round, they will double the amount of Zenny they drop, and if you fail to kill them in the second round they will double that amount again. Zenny-Droppers are difficult to hit and will run away after the third round, so you might want to bring some Megafires along with you for the occasion. After going up the ramp, collect the Clear Vision from the item box and make your way into the next hallway where you can find the Vaccine Program and the Build Power items.

Access Tunnel E-1

Grab the Gain Hyper and Sub Tank energy power-up from the hallway.

Chapter 2: Recapture Central Tower—Central Tower

Air City 3rd Street

You'll find a Figure Vending Machine here, but you can't use it yet.

Air City North Square

Counter Card attack, then Hyper Mode and attack his card shield. While in Hyper

Mode, X's powers totally negate the effects of the Counter Card shield, so you can hit Spider without fear of being counter-attacked. After a few hits, Spider will take his card deck and leave, vowing to finish the fight at a later time

Access Tunnel F-1

Collect the Power Charge, 100 Zenny and Sub Tank energy from the hallway.

Air City Gate

In the room past the construction reploid, a reploid named Aile will give you an access ID which will allow you to enter and exit the Governor's Precinct.

Tower Base Access Tunnel

Equipment Maintenance B Look for the Build Armor and Build Speed items here.

Base Security Station

After rescuina the three reploid soldiers, you will be given a Security Card which will allow you to enter the area where Chief R. is being held.

Large Heliport Access Tunnel

Collect the Backup and the Sub Tank energy from this small corridor.

attacks, so vou should start by having X transform into X Fire Hyper Mode. Lead with X's attacks and pound Jango with Power Charged normal attacks and high-energy Charged Shots. Use Spider as your support/healing character in this battle, since most of his attacks won't do much damage. If you have any Megafires or Ultrafires, have Spider use these between heals or random attacks. Jango has a few nasty attacks which do decent damage and can poison you, but the one to watch out for is his Ultrathunder attack; it can hit both characters for upwards of 350 damage. Continue hitting Jango with X's fire attacks and healing/attacking with Spider to defeat him.

Chapter 3: The Paper Hero—Tianna Camp

POW Camp Central Gate

From this room you have a direct link with New Hone and can return there at any time. The Base Gateway Air Bus Station is now open.

providing a direct route to Air City South Square. Once in South Square, you will be able to take the right door, which leads to some Figure Tokens, a Figurine Vending Machine and weapons, items and Force Metal dealers in the Air City Shopping Arcade.

Security Reploid Patrol Area

Avoid the security reploids and you'll be able to find two Figure Tokens, 300 Zenny and Decoy Force Metal, in the next area, take the left door first to pick up a Thunder Missile.

Prisoner Admission Division

Follow the hallway around to the right to grab the Boost Armor.

Collect the Figure Token from the item box at the end of the hallway After using the computer to unlock the doors in the previous sections, look for two rooms in the nearby hallways that contain Build Speed and Megathun-

East Prison

After freeing the prisoners, check the left room for a reploid who will give you the Prison ID, which can be used at the Main Gate room to unlock the far door. Check the last room on the right for a Figure Token before leaving.

Maze Area 1

After the cutscene with Silver Horn, continue down the hall and pick up the Zenny from the item box, then take the right path when you reach the intersection. Snag the Build Armor and Build Shield items from the small room there.

Maze Area 2

Look for a storage room with Warm Up, Boost Power and Boost Shield items. Also check your map for a single unexplored room on the opposite side of the Maze Area, you can pick up a Tomahawk Missile here.

Dark Room

TIP: Floor Puzzle—The series of rooms after the save device can only be unlocked by floor panels; you will need to sten on them in the following order to unlock the doors:

Security Panel Area Room 2: Blue, Red, Yellow

tains four Figure Tokens and 1,000 Zenny) Room 4: Yellow, Red, Green, Blue Room 4 Item Box: Green, Blue, Red, Yellow, (contains Queen of Diamonds weapon)

Agua Coliseum Entrance

Grab the Sub Tank and Gain Hyper items, then head through the door in front of you to meet Silver Horn

BOSS: Silver Horn-Be sure to equip any

Waterquard Force Metals that you have; this will decrease the damage from Silver Horn's attacks, Bring as many Thunder Missiles as possible and equip X with the Thunder Buster Weapon, since Silver Horn takes extra damage from Thunder-based attacks. At the start, pound away with your missiles and normal attacks. If possible, get your WE up to 100% with X and use the Charge Collider attack for massive damage. Have one of your characters ready to heal the team at any time, especially after Silver Horn's big-damage Ultrablizzard and Tidal Wave attacks, When Silver Horn uses his "Liguid Cooling" defense modifier, switch each character to Hyper Mode and use their most powerful attacks to break down his defense.

TIP: Treasure Radar-If you're playing the GameCube version and you talk to Nana at this point, she will tell you about the Treasure Radar which allows you to find hidden items on the screen of a Game Boy Ad-

Chapter 4: Gaudile Laboratory—Gaudile Laboratory

East Deck High Speed Lift Area

Go to the first room on your left to collect two Figure Tokens, then retreat to the previous area and head straight. Grab the Cooler.

East Deck Residential Division 102

Collect the Sub Tank energy, 600 Zenny, Protect +1 Force Metal and Tank Parts from this room, and activate the Big Monkey in the room to send it to the Deployment Center. East Deck Residential Division 101 Collect five Figure Tokens from this area.

Main Route After the floor sensors and cutscene, collect the Build LE, Build WE and LE +100 items from the next room.

Observation Deck Area

Take a right when the hallway splits and follow the path to reach a room with two Figure Tokens and the Queen of Hearts weapon.

Laboratory Approach Look for a room containing 1,000 Zenny and a Cure All.

Counter-Biohazard Sample Storage Collect the Build Armor, Gain WE +5 and Build speed items from one national, then look for two Figure Tokens in another hallway down the path.

Eternal Forest

There are two paths through the forest: the left path is very difficult, while the right path is easier. You will probably not be able to complete the left path at this time; come back to it later when you're stronger.

Rare Item Storage Room

A helpful reploid in the first room will give you some Sub Tank energy, as well as access to anything you want in the room. Unfortunately, the reward isn't that great, so you'll have to come back later to earn the good stuff.

West Deck Main Route

Head down the long sloping hallway to reach the next room; talk to Marino here and she will join your party. In the next room you will locate a Mettaur, which you can send back to the Deployment Center. Also be sure to snag the Sub Tank energy, Reboot and Cure One items here.

Great Tree Stump Hall Approach Pick up the Gain Hyper and Sub Tank energy in the next hallway and continue along the path to meet Psyche.

SOSS: Dr. Psyche—Before the battle, equip

one or more of your characters with the Eagle Eye Force Metal and equip Marino with a Power Charge weapon. At the start. Psyche will summon a trio of flying Needle drones; use Marino's Hawkeye special and the Eagle Eyeequipped characters to take them out before you are affected by their state-altering projectiles. After his Needles have been destroyed, attack Psyche in full force. After landing a few blows. Psyche will summon another set of Needle drones. Again, focus on the drones and defeat them first. Avoid using any of your items or denning any thirty armor during the bet tle; you'll need them in the near future.

Mad Nautilus-After Psyche has been defeated, he will transform into Mad Nautilus. As the battle starts, immediately use any offense/defense boosting items that you have, and simultaneously heal your team members if you need to. Do not attack just yet; any attack you throw out will result in a free counterattack by the giant creature. Stay idle and use the Defend command instead to greatly reduce the damage you will take in the first few rounds. After a few attacks, you'll see Nautilus begin to store energy (look for the "Infusing Mad Energy, Commence Core Heating" message). When this happens. Mad Nautilus will attack your team, after which he will become vulnerable. Immediately jump in at this point with your most powerful attacks. Have X go into Hyper Mode and use his Charge Collider, use Marino's Power charge and Hawkeye weapons before attacking to do big damage, and have Spider o Massimo bring up the rear with their most powerful attacks. After you get a few hits in, Nautilus will close his bulkheads and return to his normal state; when this happens, resume the pattern of healing your characters and defending. Note that Megablizzard. Megafire and Megathunder items can be used at any time; they will inflict a guaranteed 500 points of damage and diton him will not b able to counterattack.

BOSS: Mach Jentra-Before the battle begins, equip your characters with Fire Guard Force Metals, since Jentra's attacks and those of his entourage are primarily fire-based. Also equip X with his Ice Buster and any other characters with Ice Missiles if you have them. Jentra begins the battle with two against the Preons, and power up your WF to 100% for your two most powerful characters. As soon as they reach 100% WE, stack their attacks right behind one another by having one of the characters choose "Defend" for one or two rounds. When their attacks are stacked, have X switch to Hyper Mode and

At their next turn, have each character revert to normal mode and recharge their WE back to 100%, then repeat. If you destroy the Preons at any time, Jentra may summon more into battle, so be prepared. While X and your second character fight Jentra, have the third character focus on hitting the Preons and healing your team. Jentra is vulnerable to ice damage, so icebased attack items (Megablizzard, Ultrablizzard) also work well.

.2 Northwest Division

Enter the first room on your right to grab a Figure Token. then hit the room on your left for another. Head through the door on the far side of the cavern to locate a Bat Bone (which you can send back to the Deployment Center) and another Figure Token.

evel 3 Main Tunnel

Pick up the Sub Tank energy from the item box in the hallway.

BOSS: Shadow-Don't let Shadow shoot you with a attack Jentra with your Charge Collider.

When hit by a powerful attack, Jentra will be blast from his charged Pulverizer Cannon! Use your most powerful normal attacks to make him lose his concentration and stop charging the weapon.

BOSS: Shadow (Round 2)—In the second battle with Shadow, some of his normal attacks can do over 1000 LF damage to one character! Use two characters as your main attackers and a third (preferably Cinnamon; her Angelic Aide Action special can heal your entire party) to heal your team or use status-reducing items on Shadow. Use the same strategy as you did against Jantra to win. After a couple of X's Charge Collider attacks, Shadow should just about be done. Use Zero as your backup fighter and attack with his Zero Breakthrough Action special to score big damage.

After the battle, take the door leading left, grab the two Figure Tokens and take note of the locked door and the nearby mining robot.

Look for a small room with a mining reploid. Talk to the reploid to collect the Red Pickaxe.

L3 Northwest Division

Follow the room around to the right to collect a Figure Token, then enter the right door. Look for the Degraver in this room and send it to the Deployment Center, then pick up the Ace of Hearts weapon for Spider. Look for another room with 1,300 Zenny inside on the opposite side of the cavern.

L3 Northeast Division

Head to the room at the far end of the corridor and grab the Force Missile, then return to the room where you fought Shadow.

L3 Main Tunnel

You now have to give the appropriate tool to each of the Mechaniloids in order to progress. The Mechaniloid in the room with the locked door needs the Blue (Water) Pickaxe, the one in the Northeast Division needs the Green (Air) Pickaxe, one Mechaniloid in the Northwest Division needs the Yellow (Electricity) Pickaxe and the other one in this area needs the Red (Fire) Pickaxe. (Note: The Mechaniloids in this area will also give you the Electric Components and Trade Sheet items.) Give each Mechaniloid its specific pickaxe, then return to the elevator control room in the Main Tunnel area, where a Mechaniloid will trade you an Infinite Resist for the Trade Sheet in your possession.

Level 4 Main Tunnel

From the lift, head to the room directly in front of you and collect the Build Shield, Build Armor, Build Speed, Build Power and Build WE items. Take the door to the next hallway and grab the Build Hyper and Sub Tank energy items, then go through the door on your left.

Level 4 Durability Lab

Get the Water Guard, Thunderquard and Fire Guard Force Metals from this room.

Incentas—Incentas is able to change his physical properties at will, allowing him to dish out several types of elementalbased damage. Try to equip damage-reducing Force Metals such as Fire Guard or Thunder Guard. At the start, Incentas will immediately change to his water-based form, which is weak to thunder-based weapons and absorbs all water-based attacks. In the next round he assumes his thunder-based form (which is weak to fire-based attacks), and in the following round he will change to his fire-based form (weak against water- and ice-based attacks). To beat Incentas easily, charge your WE to 100% with X, wait until Incentas transforms into his thunder-based form, then have X switch to Hyper Mode. Use your Charge Collider coupled with another character's most powerful fire-based attacks to do a nice chunk of damage. Heal between rounds and charge your LE back up, hitting with any attack that causes additional damage. Just don't use a weapon with a damage type that he can absorb, as this will only restore some of his LE.

Chapter 7: Block Transmissions!—vanallia Desert

Ouicksand

To find the entrance to the bunker, stand still and look just to the right of the first generator; the entrance appears as a small white light in the distance. If you get lost, just locate any generator and follow the cables to each subsequent generator until the bunker appears.

In the desert

In the desert area outside the bunker are six inoperable Mettaur mechaniloids holding items. Find the edge of the area and do a walkaround of the perimeter. Once you get back to the starting point, find the edge of the wall and zig-zag back and forth across the desert from side-to-side to locate them all. The items include three Figure Tokens, a Mini-Battery, Tank Parts and the Doubletooth weapon for Zero. Also look for a Mega Tortoise that you can send back to the Deployment Center.

Once you find that the bunker is locked, locate the generator closest to you and follow the cables out into the desert to trigger a cutscene.

Ouicksand South Side

Follow the corridor around to the right to collect a Vaccine Program. Look for a red switch on the wall to the let; walk over to it and press the button

TIP: Zenny Earning—In the Basement of the bunker, you may run into a Gold Blader. Although weak, this enemy can summon Gold and Silver Mettaurs, which can give you large amounts of Zenny. To get the most out of these battles, you must defeat the Mettaurs in only one turn. Hitting them one time and not killing them will dull their shell, resulting in less Zenny gained from the battle. Projectile weapons like X's and Axl's aren't good for fighting Mettaurs;

stick to your melee fighters (Zero, Cinnamon, Marino) and have them attack with weapons that hit multiple times. If you manage to kill the Gold Blader and a set of Gold Mettaurs in one attack each, you can easily earn more than 15,000 Zenny per battle.

Take the next path to your right past the blue door and follow it to reach a dead end and the blue door switch. Unlock the door using the switch and collect the Build Speed, Build LE, Build Armor and Build Power tems. to Collect the Cooler item from the hallway and look for a red switch on the wall; activate the switch and move on.

Make a left down the next dead-end hallway and press the yellow door switch. Down the next dead-end hallway you will see the third and final red door switch; press it and keep heading down the hallway.

Quicksand North Side

Follow the hallway down and collect the Cure All in the corridor. Make a right when the hallway splits to locate a Build Hyper and the final yellow door switch.

Head back through the now-unlocked yellow door and snag the B00 FME from the room, then make your way back to the previous area.

Move through the door into the next section and take your first left to reach the unlocked room. Pick up the Ball and Chain Hammer from this room, along with 3,800 Zenny. Remember the Einhammer in Ultaf that you couldn't reactivate? Return to the Smelting Surface 2 area and you will now be able to recover it and send it to the Deployment Center.

Quicksand Central Passageway

To leave the facility, take the path directly behind you to reach the Signal Jammer Laser Energy Control Room (there is some Sub Tank energy and a Build Hyper Item near this room) and the exit. Otherwise, take the left path first.

Northwest Signai Jammer Laser Energy Control Room

Quicksand Central Passageway
Head back to the lift room and take the lift up

Signal Jammer Laser Energy Generator

There are three paths to take on this floor; take the left path first.

Grab the Figure Token from the item box near the locked door, then follow the path to reach the control room. Use the nearby computer terminal to disable the jammer in the north block.

Leave the room through the door on the right and collect the two Figure Tokens from the hallway. Follow the corridor down to the right to reach the lift room, then take the right door leading into the last hallway. Grab the Figure Token from this hallway, then retreat to the lift room and take the lift back down to Floor 1F.

Quicksand Central PassagewayThere are now three rooms for you to explore (southeast, southwest and northeast).

Southwest Signal Jammer Laser Energy Control Room

Grab the Sub Tank energy from the room and send the Pararoid back to the Deployment Center, then angle the lasers so the beam hits the plate on the wall.

Northeast Signal Jammer Laser Energy Control Room

Southeast Signal Jammer Laser Energy Control Room

Collect the Cyber Liquid from the item box in the room (you can use it to reactivate the Liquid Glob in the Quicksand South Side area behind the blue door), and adjust the laser beam to hit the plate on the wall. Head back to the lift area and take the lift

Head back to the lift area and take the lift back up to floor 2F.

Signal Jammer Laser Energy Generator

In the southwest room, use the computer terminal to disable the jammer in the 4F-West area.

In the northeast room, use the terminal to disable the jammer in the 1F-East area In the southwest room, use the terminal to disable the jammer in the South block. You may have noticed some item boxes (two in the southwest, one each in the southeast and northwest, two in the northeast) that were enclosed in crystal. To unlock these item boxes, travel back down to Floor 1F and enter the Jammer Laser Energy Control Rooms. If you look at the absorbing boxes on the wall, you'll see that at least one of the boxes in each room is colored red. Adjust the lasers to hit the red colored boxes in each room to unlock the corresponding item box in the 2F rooms. Go back up to Floor 2F and you will now be able to collect a Contact Absorber, Fire Resist Force Metal, Shot Absorber, Build LE, Build WE and Thunder Stella weapon. Take the elevator to Floor 3F to fight the Vanallia boss, Botos.

BOSS: Botos—Botos takes extra damage

from waterand ice-based attacks. You also might want to pick characters who do well against airborne enemies (X. Axl. Marino). Watch out for the Botos Trio attack, where he calls two Q-Bit bots into battle to help him. While in his party, the Q-Bits will power up Botos, allowing him to perform special attacks that hit your entire party for more than 500 LE points of damage; they can also heal him for 10,000 LE at a time. The O-Bits get one attack each (usually a random elemental attack), so your main focus should be to destroy the Q-Bits quickly. Dedicate two characters to this task while your other character hits Botos for heavy normal and special attacks. To take his HP down fast, have X transform into Hyper Mode and use your fully-powered Charge Collider two or three times.

Chapter 8: The Ultimate Weapon—Melda Ore Plant

Ore Plant External Tank

Check the far left corner of the room for a Rabbid that you can send to the Deployment Center, and pick up the two Figure Tokens, Heavy Motor and Tank Parts from the room.

B1 Entrance Hall Take the Ultrathunder from the item box and ride the lift down to reach Area E-B02.

Area F.RO2

Head through two hallways and into the center room. Take the left door to reach a small room and a Build WE item. Collect the Figure Token in the next room, then walk over to the peephole and peer inside so you can send the image to Gaudile for analysis.

Return to the main room and take the right door. Grab the Build LE from the room and move into the next room. Use the peephole to send another image to Gaudile, then take the elevator down to Area E-B03.

Area E-RO3

Use the peephole in this room to take another shot of the "strange object." Pick up the Learning Aid Force Metal in the next room and head through the door, then take another snapshot here using the peephole opposite the center door.

Take the center door to reach a small room with a Build Shield item. Retreat to the previous room and take the right door.

Collect the B00 FME in this room and go through the door on the opposite side of the room. Use the peephole here to take yet another shot of the "strange object" and take the lift down to Area E-B04.

Area E-B04

Take another peephole shot here and head to the central room that links the nearby surrounding hallways. Collect the Sub Tank energy here, take another shot using the peephole and exit through the door on your left. Activate the Wolffoid in the next room and send it to the Deployment Center, then head into the next room.

Grab the Figure Token and use the nearby computer terminal to open the missile silo gate.

B5 East-West Block Access Tunnel

BOSS: Botos (Round 2)— Botos is weak from his last battle with you, so you'll only have to hit him a few times to end the battle.

Missile Silo Base Lower Section Collect the Gain Hyper, 1,000 FME, Figure Token and 3,000 Zenny from this room and continue on.

BS East-West Block Access Tunnel Grab the Build Speed item from this room and

Area W-B04

Area W-B03

Botos will create another decoy; chase the real one this time. Grab the Cryogenic and 2,000 Zenny from the room directly in front of you, then fight Botos. Collect the Build Armor from the opposite room adjacent to the hallway and continue on to reach another lift room.

Area W-B02

As you enter the main room, you'll see Botos run off into one of the side rooms. Grab the Gain Hyper and Sub Tank energy from the room and go through the unlocked door nearby.

BOSS: Ferham—Ferham takes more dam-

as more damage from thunder-based weapons. Also be sure to equip as many Hawkeye subweapons as possible; Ferham is an airborne enemy, so the Hawkeye will help to prevent missed attacks. Ferham uses a lot of water-based attacks, so you should also equip Force metals that reduce water and ice damage. Axi's Wild Jango special attack works well here, as does Zero's Dragon Slash attack. If you run into trouble, try a few Ultrathunders to soften her up.

After the battle, head back to the B5 East-West Block Access Tunnel. Talk to Ferham for a moment, then backtrack to Area W-802. Grab the Figure Token from the far room on the right, then enter the unlocked door in the center of the main room to continue.

BOSS: Scarface—Scarface takes extra damage from fire attacks, and can both deal and absorb thunder-based attacks. Equip fire-based weapons and items that reduce thunder damage. At the start, unload with Megafires, Ultrafires, Twin Fire missiles and/or your character's best fire-based weapons. X performs well here, since his Hyper Armor grants him fire-based properties, but his Charge Collider fails to do its normal damage because of Scarface's ability to block multi-hit attacks. Wear him down with normal attacks instead, and have your other characters provide backup by using one-hit attacks and/or healing the party. If you get into a pinch, switch to Axl and use his Mach Jentra attack for some nice damage. You can also switch to Marino, have her enter Hyper Mode and pound Scarface with her Mirage Dive attack to beat him rather quickly.

Chapter 9: When Giants Duel—Grave Ruins Base

TIP: Purchasing Items—
Make sure that you have gone back and collected X's Ultimate Armor and Zero's Absolute they will make the game much easier. You should also purchase the most powerful weapons you can afford along with a good stock of Force Armor and other helpful items.

Level E Security Zone

You'll need to activate both intruder detection devices to temporarily unlock the nearby doors so you can head left down the corridor. Repeat the process in the next hallway to unlock the two nearby rooms and collect a Figure Token and 5,000 Zenny.

Level D Security Zone

Activate the three intruder security devices here and follow the tunnel to the left, Grab the Miracle Beam S from the room at the end and retreat down the hallway. Go through the door at the end to find a Bladey mechaniloid to send back to the Deployment Center, along with a computer terminal that you can use to deactivate the main gate security.

Level C Security Zone

Grab the Sub Tank and head through the door in front of you. There are five locked doors in this area, and you will need to trigger all the intruder detection devices here to unlock them. Check the top right room for a Gain Hyper, the top left room for an Unlock Limiter, the bottom right room for 3,000 FME and the bottom left room for a Figure Token.

Level B Security Zone

Head down the hallway to the left and pick up a Cure All. Activate the detection device, quickly dash down the hallway in the opposite direction, grab the Backup and activate the second device to unlock the center door.

Battle Field

Look for Build Armor, Build WE, Build Shield, Build Hyper, Build Speed, Build LE and Build Power items in this room.

Revolver Shaft Area

Collect the Sub Tank energy from the hallway and follow the corridor down and through the door. In this next room you'll find two computer terminals. Activating either terminal will spin the center room around, allowing you to access the adiagent proms.

RAISE THE

 Use the left terminal once to go to Room 4 and collect the Z Saber++ weapon

 Use the left terminal twice to go to Room 7

- Use the left terminal five times and the right terminal once to reach Room 6 and collect a Vitality Missile.
- · Use the left terminal six times to rotate the room and reach Revolver Room 3, which leads to the exit.

Level S Top Security Zone

down the hallway. In the far room is a computer terminal that controls one of the locking mechanisms on the door in the main hall. Manipulate the computer to release the first lock and collect the Super Absorber from the room.

Now backtrack to the main room and take the right passage. Grab the four Figure Tokens from the right room and continue down the hallway. Repeat the process with the terminal in the far room to unlock the main door.

Final Gate

Pick up the Gain Hyper and Sub Tank energy from the next room.

BOSS: Scarface (Round 2)—Use the same tactics as you did previously, or have X equip his Ultimate Armor and use Nova Strike to kill him with one attack.

BOSS: Epsilon-Hit Epsilon with your most powerful normal attacks and heal yourself when necessary. You can take his health down with normal Action Trigger specials, so it's not necessary to enter Hyper Mode just yet, After vou "defeat" Epsilon, he will summon extra power from the Supra-Force Metal to continue the fight, Your attacks won't do any real damage to Epsilon at first, so you'll have to weaken him by inflicting a lot of damage. Have one or two of your characters enter Hyper Mode and repeatedly pound him with your most powerful attacks. After taking some damage, you'll see his Force Metal weaken and he'll start taking normal damage. Try to attack while your LE is at 100% with X's Nova Strike attack, which can drain almost his entire lifebar in one attack.

When you're ready, head up to the Heliport. Note: This is the point of no return! Make sure that you acquire all the weapons and items you need, complete all of your deployments into the field and collect all of the items from the previous levels before you enter this point.

Teleport Terminal

Check the left room for an item salesman and a nurse reploid, then check the nearby item boxes for Tank Parts, two Figure tokens and a Build Hyper.

TIP: Level Up—This place is crawling with high-level enemies, and with a save device and nurse reploid nearby, you can fight until vou've leveledup to your lik-

There are four separate rooms covered by purple force fields here, each with a teleporter that takes you to a specific boss. You'll have to fight all of the previous bosses before taking on the final boss. Use the tactics outlined in the walkthrough to beat each boss, but refrain from using Hyper Mode; you'll need all of them later on. Remember that you can restore your LE and Sub Tanks between battles by visiting the nurse reploid. Here's a list of bosses and their locations:

two Red Hubcaps; he will use these robots as a crutch during the entire fight. Have two of your characters on constant lookout for the Red Hubcaps and take them out as soon as they appear. Your Hyper Mode rounds are best saved for the final confrontation. I suggest using Cinnamon here; she can heal the party for free while two heavy-hitters (Zero, Massimo or X) take shots at Redips. Try Massimo's Berserk Charge or Marino's Mirage Dive for good damage.

Super Strato-Terminal

Blue Earth Loader

Head down the long hallway (and check out the view!) to reach Redips, who has managed to fuse himself with Supra-Force Metal.

BOSS: Great Redips—Redips is basically indestructible

while wearing the Supra-Force Metal shards, so take aim at these first. The left Force Supra-Metal grants Redips the auto-repair ability, and the right one activates his shield. Concentrate on one at a time until they are both destroyed. After a few rounds, the Force Metals will regenerate and you'll have to repeat the process. Have X equip his Ultimate Armor and equip Zero with his Absolute Zero Armor, Redips does have a few attacks that can hit the whole party, have one character on support duty, ready to heal. Redips will eventually lose one of the Force Metals during a cutscene. When he attacks again, immediately equip X and Zero with their upgraded armor and charge up your WE to 100%.

When Redips is finally defeated, the Supra-Force Metal is destroyed with him. Sit back and enjoy the ending!

After Nana joins your team, you'll gain access to the Deployment Center, From here you can send out robot units to recover items, weapons and unlockable Sky Room features from stages vou've already cleared.

Unit Abilities

VIT—Survivability; this rates whether or not the unit will survive the mission. ATK—Collect Zenny; this rates how much Zenny your unit will collect while on a mission. SEARCH—Find Items; this represents your success rate of the unit finding Items in the field. INTEL—Find Disks; this represents your success rate of the unit finding disks in the field. MOV-Mission Time; this rates how quickly your unit will complete each mission.

Unit Deployment Strategy

There are three types of units: Combat, Search and Intelligence. Each type has a specific area where it excels. Combat units are the heavy hitters and are used in collecting Zenny. Search units rely on signals to locate and collect items. Intel units use signals to locate disks, it's generally a good idea to level up the specific units in their specialized areas first, as this will maximize their efficiency in the field. For example, you probably won't want to send a Combat unit such as the D-Shark or Big Monkey into an area that rewards your unit with increased Search skills upon completion, since they are primarily used for gathering Zenny and could benefit from increased Attack skills instead. It also wouldn't make sense to send a Search unit into a mission where its Attack skills are increased after the mission is over, since they should be used for gathering Items from the field. Try to send the units on missions that will reward their successes with increased skills in the areas that benefit them the most. This is important because once it has reached Level 10, a unit's stats will be maxed out and it will not be able to increase its stats in any more areas. Be sure to take the time to level up your unit in whichever area you see fit before reaching Level 10!

Spoils Recovered

Here's a complete list of all items that your robot units can recover from each area. Note that most of these items will be unlockables that you can view from the Sky Room, Items collected from deployment do not count toward your "Item Acquisition %" totals from each level; they are in a separate category.

Increasing your characters' levels is a must in any RPG, and this also rings true for Command Mission. Gaining levels will not only grant your character new special abilities or attacks, but it will also keep you from getting turned into scrap metal. If you're having a tough time in a certain area, try hanging out for a bit and just

While in Hyper Mode, your characters may temporarily get a boost in LE, attack power or defense power-and some characters have specialized versions of their Action. Trigger special attacks, More often than not, they will do incredible damage to enemies, sometimes killing bosses in one or two attacks. Hyper Mode is timed, and characters can only stay in this mode for a certain amount of time before they "cool down." Since Hyper Mode is limited, try saving this mode for boss battles and tougher creatures.

If you reduce an enemy's LE down to a minimal level without destroying them while three characters are on your team, you will have the opportunity to perform a Final Strike attack. Final Strikes boost the amount of Force Metal Energy you earn from an enemy, and do obscene amounts of damage to the target. Final Strikes are also VERY useful in boss battles. Killing a boss with a Final Strike can reward you with additional experience points, based on the number of hits. As a matter of fact, it's entirely possible to double your experience points on a regular basis when fighting in boss battles.

Increasing Battle Payouts

Along the way you will be able to pick up some weapons or Force Metals that will help you to gain more experience points, Zenny or Force Metal Energy after each battle. The Zenny+, EXP+ and Force Metal+ weapons are good examples of this, and should be used at every opportunity to increase your battle profits.

We've spent a lot of time playing Command Mission, and we've figured out some things that will help you along the way.

you will be able to look at your enemies to determine weaknesses and see if they have anything worth stealing. Analyzing enemies will usually give you the upper hand in battle, since you will be able to see what types of attacks work best against them.

After you have started deploying mechaniloid units into the areas that you have already cleared, you may want to go back to some of these areas to collect any items, weapons or Force Metals that you may have missed. You can see your progress in this regard by checking the data computer in the Sky Room; look for a number in each stage that reflects the percentage of items you've uncovered there. Note: If you pick up an item while in a stage and you already have the maximum number of these items in your inventory, the data system will NOT give you credit for collecting that item. . You will have to find a way to drop the item from your inventory first and collect it again for it to count as a collected item. This includes Sub Tank energy!

Lagrano Ruins: Secret Item Shop

Once you have recovered the Lagrano Key, travel back to the Lagrano Ruins and use the key on the locked door in Area 4F-Fast, Follow the hallway up (look for two Figure Tokens, Tank Parts and a Deerbell droid that you can send back to the Deployment Center) and go through the door to reach the Secret Shop area. There are three vendors here, and each sells some hard-to-find items, weapons or Force Metals. Bring your pocketbook, though, as things tend to be a bit pricey here!

Central Tower: Special Sealed Area

After you beat the game, you will get the Central Key, which allows you to explore the Central Tower and collect all of the items you have been missing. In order to progress through the lower depths of the city, you'll need to fight an enemy boss named "Onetail". Onetail is the guardian of each section, and every time you defeat him you will gain access to a new area. As you go lower into the city depths, Onetail becomes Twotails, then Threetails, then...well, you get the idea. This last stretch of unexplored city is the final frontier of the game, and you will be able to collect most of the rest of your collectible items here (including movie clips, song clips, etc.). Good luck!

Tianna Camp: Secret Area and X's Ultimate Armor

After collecting the Tianna Key, go back to Tianna Camp, head down the Maze Area 1 and use the key on the locked door in this area. Head down the left corridor to collect some Tank Parts and reactivate a Radar Killer that you can send to the Deployment Center. Continue along the corridor and through the next door; this will trigger a battle with Rafflesian and two Belladonnas. This battle is very difficult; I recommend that you don't attempt this until your characters are at least Level 35. The key to winning this battle is to completely ignore the Belladonnas and concentrate on Rafflesian only. She is able to heal herself for free automatically every round, so for best results you should have all of your characters enter Hyper Mode and attack her in a row. It took me a few tries to beat Rafflesian, but I found that X. Zero and Cinnamon were the best team for me to use. equipped X with the Turbo Buster (purchased from the Lagrano Secret Shop), Zero with the Z Rapier and Cinnamon with the Kitty Gloves (also purchased from the Lagrano Secret Shop). When the battle started, I boosted X's attack power with a Boost Power, then immediately put all of my characters into Hyper Mode. From here built X's WE up to 100% and hit Rafflesian with repeated Charge Collider shots, then had Zero attack her with normal attacks and Cinnamon heal the party with her Angelic Aide special or by using Sub Tank energy. After defeating Rafflesian, I had to use a couple of Gain Hy pers on Cinnamon and Zero to finish off the Belladonnas, Beating her will give you a Figure Token and some Tank Parts; you will also gain access to the room behind her. In this room you can pick up a couple of Figure Tokens, but more importantly, you will collect X's Ultimate Armor! You can also pick up a Blowfish Mechaniloid for your Deployment Center if you head back down to the Agua Coliseum, but you'll need a Mini Battery to start it.

Gaudile Laboratory: Eternal Forest and

If you recall, there were two paths that could be taken through the Eternal Forest area: the strong path or the weak path. If you come back later on, after you have increased your characters' levels to 32 or so, you should be able to complete any path you want through the Forest and reach the Rare Item Storage Room with little difficulty. If you choose to take only the strong path,

R = Take red (strong) path

there are eight sets of creatures to fight, and the hardest group by far is the final set; a group of three Belladonnas, Belladonnas heal themselves automatically each round, so it's best to gang up on one at a time using your most powerful weapons, Action specials and Hyper Mode attacks. Here's a complete list of every item in the Eternal Forest and which path to take to obtain them. Note: After completing any path, the Rare Item Storage Area guard will award you with random amounts of Zenny, Sub Tank energy and random items.

- B, R, R-Joker Card

If you continue on past the Eternal Forest and head back to the Great Tree Stump Hall area, you can pick up a Dober Man mechaniloid and send it to the Deployment Center. You will need the Bone Key to activate this mechaniloid, so be sure to pick it up from the Eternal Forest before attempting to retrieve it.

Gimialla Mine: Secret Area

After recovering the Gimialla Mine Key, head back to the mine and go to the Level 3 Main Tunnel area, Head down the left tunnel and use the key to unlock the door on the right. Grab a Figure Token from the room on the right and head down the tunnel to the left. Grab another Figure Token from the room on the right and use the Heavy Motor in your inventory to activate the Gold Blader in the tunnel. The last room contains another set of Tank Parts. Note: This area is literally filled with Gold Mettaurs, Silver Mettaurs and Mettaur Gigants, so it's an excellent place to come if you are in need of extra cash. It's also the only place where you will encounter the shy Mettaur Gigant creature.

Melda Ore Plant: Secret Area and Zero's Absolute Zero Hyper Armor

Deploy your mechaniloid units into the Melda Ore Plant to recover the Melda Key, then return to the Plant and use the key to unlock the door in the B1 Entrance Hall Area, Grab the three Figure Tokens and take the lift up to the next area. Activate the Meltdown and send it to the Deployment Center and head through the door in front of you. In this next room you will battle a strange robot called "Duckbill Mole" who brings an exact replica of himself into battle, so in essence you will have to defeat him twice. Duckbill Mole is ridiculously easy if you have X's Ultimate Armor, so I strongly suggest that you pick this up before attempting to fight him. Otherwise, treat this as you would any boss battle. Duckbill takes extra damage from waterbased attacks, so try to equip some weapons that do this type of damage beforehand. After defeating the Duckbill duo, you will be awarded with two Figure Tokens, two Power Charges, and access to the item box in the room, which contains Zero's Absolute Zero Hyper Armor! Also, if you make the journey back to the Missile Warhead Adjustment Room (the very top room on the left side of the map), you can get the Gatling Buster 2 and Generator weapons from this area.

SILENT HILL4 THE ROOM

t was two years ago that Henry Townshend moved into Room 302 of South Ashfield Heights, an apartment building in the medium-sized city of Ashfield. Henry was happy and enjoying his new life, but five days ago, something strange happened. He began to have a recurring dream each night. Oh, and one other thing...he couldn't leave Room 302.

GAMEPLAY

There are two modes of play in Silent Hill 4. Both are equally important when it comes to surviving the game and obtaining the "best" ending.

The Room (First-Person)

The Room (your apartment) will always be played in first-person mode. You will return to the Room repeatedly throughout the game, with many different things to explore and discover each time you complete a task. It may seem as though there isn't much do to here except save your game, collect notes and store items, but as the game progresses, you will begin to fend off evil spirits and curses that creep into room 302.

Nightmare Realm (Third-Person)

When you exit your room through the mysterious hole, you will enter the Nightmare Realm, which will always be played in third-person mode. This is the exploration part of the game, where the story will start to unravel after certain tasks are completed. Of course, no Nightmare

Realm would be complete without a barrage of life-draining ghosts, bloodsucking dogs and demon-possessed wheelchairs to prey on unwelcome visitors.

IN YOUR ROOM

The Room should be considered your home base or safehouse. Here you can do such things as restore your health, save your game and store and retrieve your collected items. There are also things you can look at and check on to enhance or to further the story. Be sure to look at the specific places listed below each time you return to your apartment; you never know what you may discover.

Room Checklist

These are the specific places that you should always keep an eye on when you return to your room from the Nightmare Realm:

 Check the windows—Look outside to see what's going on in the outside world. There could be some useful information out there.

 Check the peephole—Sometimes you will hear a ruckus coming from the apartment hallway. Look through that peephole to make sure you don't miss out on any of the action.

 Look for notes under the door-Check the floor to see if any notes have been slid underneath your door. These notes can give you some answers about what's going on around you, or even raise more questions.

· Check the wall crack to Eileen's room—Even if you're not a Peeping Tom in real life, you should look through the crack in the wall that peers into the bedroom of your cute nextdoor neighbor, Eileen. Although you won't see what you were expecting to see, you will still get some vital infor mation and a few laughs when you look inside.

Item Management

Throughout the game you will collect a vast array of items that will require storage for a later time. Since you can't carry a lot of items with you, you should always dump the items that you currently do not need into the trunk next to your television. This way you can collect more items in the Nightmare Realm without having to backtrack or leave anything behind.

Saving Your Game

When the apartment has been checked out and you've finished managing your items, step up to the red book in the living room and save your progress before returning to the Nightmare Realm. Save often to prevent unnecessary level replays in the event of an unfortunate accident.

The Evil Within

About halfway through the game (when Eileen is tagging along when you), your apartment will start to become infested with evil spirits. At this point, your apartment will no longer refill your health and you will take damage when you walk into a section of your apartment that is cursed. There are two indicators that reveal a curse: an unusual happening in the area of question (cracks in the wall, appliances being turned on, rattling windows, a crazy clock) and a red tint on the screen when you walk into a cursed area. If this occurs, immediately step away from the area or you will start to receive damage.

GENERAL SURVIVAL TIPS

Fight or Flee?

You will encounter numerous enemies in the Nightmare Realm, and you can choose to either run from them or fight them. If you wish to kill your attackers, you must knock them down with your melee weapon (or pistol) and step on them when they're down, or else they will rise to attack again. Most of the creatures you come across can be killed except for ghosts. If you see a ghost, run away; the ghosts can hurt you just by being next to them! You can wear a Saint Medallion to repel the ghosts from attacking you. I recommend that you kill as many of the creatures as you can, because they will not "respawn"—which is important, since the game requires you to backtrack through most of the levels.

The Healing

As you progress through the game, you will collect healing items that are used to restore health. Instead of using them up when your life is low, save these items and backtrack through a hole that leads back to your apartment, where your health will gradually be restored to 100% just for standing around. Now you can store your healing items and return to the Nightmare Realm with full life. You'll need those healing items later in the game when your apartment loses its ability to heal (shortly after Eileen joins you), so take advantage of the health restoration while you can.

Staying True to the Path

Silent Hill 4 has a very good in-game mapping system that labels your location, the places you have been, the doors you have gone through, the doors that are locked and the holes you can use to return back to your apartment. Check your map often to see where you have and have not been.

If you see an infected area, deanse it right away. One of the prerequisites for obtaining the "best" ending is to have a fully, cleansed apartment before you enter the firial battle. If you let the curse linger for a while, it will seep into the apartment and you will not be able to clean that specific curse, so hit the infected areas as soon as they appear. Use the Holy Candles and Saint Medallions you have acquired in the Nightmare Realm to get rid of the evil spirits. To use a Holy Candle, find an infected area and place the candle next to it. Watch the candle fully burn out and the curse will be lifted from that area, if you don't watch the candle burn completely out, the evil spirits will some back. You can also use a Saint Medallion and stand inside of the infected area. The Saint Medallion will start to shake, which indicates that it is working. After one or two evil spirit cleansings, the Saint medallion will be ask, so be so e to have a becaup to inshire the job.

WALKTHROUGH

The following walkthrough will show you the essential tasks that you must perform in order to progress through the game. The maps of the larger levels will show you the locations of all the items in those areas.

Room 302

You begin the game by waking up in an eerie, blood-stained apartment. As you look around, you realize that you have no recollection of the items placed inside. Check out the surroundings in your room, then venture out into the living room. Examine the contents of the living room and the kitchen. When you're finished exploring, take a look at the crack in the wall that resembles a face (it's to the left of the couch, just above the small desk). After a cutscene, you will reappear in the same apartment, but the surroundings will be clean.

Look around your bedroom and take a look outside your window for another cutscene. Leave your bedroom and explore the living room once again. Take the note from behind the trunk to start your grand collection of creepy notes. Move on to the kitchen and open the fridge to grab the Wine open the fridge to grab the Wine Bottle and Chocolate Milk, then move on to the door. After the cutscene, take the note from beneath the door. Open the trunk in the living room to store your Wine Bottle and Chocolate Milk; you won't need them for a while.

Enter the bathroom and take the Steel Pipe from the wall; it will be your main weapon for a long time. Before you enter the hole, go back to the living room and save your game by looking in the red book next the couch. Now return to the bathroom and enter the hole. Once inside, creep your way to the end.

The Subway

After going down the escalator, move down to the end of the hall and talk to the woman, Cynthia. Next, continue down the same path and kill the two dogs with your Steel Pipe.

mies, you must step on them after you have knocked them down, or else they will get back up and aftack you again. When you're finished dealing with the dogs, go into the woman's bathroom and enter the hole in the wall.

After going through the hole, you will wake up in your apartment with your health completely refilled. Go into your living room and straighten the small desk next to the couch. This will reveal a Pistol, a note on the wall and the peephole that leads to Eileen's apartment. Take the Pistol, read the note and look and the Prisco, read the note and rook at the crack in the wall. After peeping into Eileen's private space, your phone will ring, go into the bedroom and answer it. When the phone call ends, return to the living room and look through the peephole on your front oor. After that, head back it to the bathroom and go back through the hole. Remember to save your game before you leave.

Continue

The Subway

When you return to the subway, you'll be back at the hole in the bathroom instead of at the beginning of the level. (This is true for all of the holes that you find later in the game. This feature can be useful if you ever want to heal at the apartment without having to backtrack too far.)

Inside the bathroom, you will see a statue in the stall. Examin it and take the Lynch Street Line Coin. Exit the bathroom and continue down the hall the same way you were originally headed. Kill the dog at the turnstiles and use the token on the Lynch Street Turnstile to go down the stairs.

Here you will have your first encounter with ghosts. Ghosts can't be killed, so it's best to run away whenever you see one. Take the stairs down and go left, down the next set of stairs. You will see Cynthia locked inside the train. Go left at the bottom of the stairs and reach the train car at the very end. Enter the train and push the red button, then exit the train to meet Cynthia. Go all the way back down to the car where Cynthia was held and enter the train. Now you must zig-zag through the train cars in order to reach the platform on the other side.

Take the right car exit and move up between the trains. Enter the car on your left and open the door at the front of the car. Move up through this car and open the door ahead. Exit through the first door on the right and go up between the trains. Go into the right car and open the door at the bottom of this car. Exit through the left door and move down between the trains. Enter through the right opening and open the door at the bottom of the car. Move down the car and take the right opening. You should now be on the platform on the other side. Travel all the way down alongside the train, past the stairs, and enter the door ahead. If you need health, use the hole to travel back to your apartment and refill your life before taking the ladder down.

Move straight ahead, ignoring the right turn, and go back up the other ladder. Grab the Pistol Bullets and unlock the door ahead. Turn around and go back down the ladder. Go down and take the path that is now to the left. Follow the path to the end and enter the door. Kill the five dogs on the platform to clear the area. Retrieve the 9-Iron from the train and the Nutrition Drink from the base of the escalator. The end of this section is a hole. If you need the health, take a trip back; otherwise, head up the escalator.

As you run up the escalator, you will meet a new creature, the Wall Monsters. The best way to deal with the Wall Monsters is to avoid them. Run up next to one to trigger their attack, then quickly dash back. After they have swung their long arms, run by as they recover.

When you reach the top of the escalator, run into the left hall and grab the Pistol Bullets. Come back from the hall and take the stairs on your left. Take the plate that is hung up on the door and enter. This will lead to a horrifying sequence.

When you wake up in your apartment, check the bedroom window, then do all of the standard apartment chores that are listed above under "Room Checklist." When you're finished, dump all of your items into the trunk and take your Steel Pipe and Chocolate Milk with you for the next level. Save your game and enter the hole.

The Forest

You will appear in the middle of a dark, foggy forest. Take the path ahead to enter the next room and move on to the building at the end of the path. Take out the wasps and go on to the next section. Continue on until you reach a guy sitting next to a large boulder. Talk to him and continue in the same direction. Kill the three dogs in the next room and go into the next section. Eliminate more dogs and some wasps in here, then head into the door marked "Wish House,

If you check your map, you will notice that there are three paths at each corner of this room. Take the path in the bottom left corner and talk to the kid at the end while avoiding the ghost. When you're finished, backtrack to the Wish House; the guy you previously spoke to will be standing there. Give him the Chocolate Milk and he will give you a Spade in return.

Take the Spade and head for the path in the bottom right corner. Kill the dogs in the first room and advance to the third room on this path. Inside, you will notice a tree root that looks like a hand coming from the ground. Take your Spade and use it here to get the Rusted Bloody Key. Move on to the next room on the path, where you will pick up a 6-iron and enter the hole.

Back in your apartment, go to your trunk in the living room and leave the Rusted Bloody Key inside. Head back to the hole and return to the forest. Now backtrack to the Wish House and enter the hole on the north wall. Retrieve the Rusted Bloody Key from the trunk and sequence. When you reappear in your apartment, check the peephole on the front door, then do your normal apartment routine. Dump your items except for your pipe and save your progress. When you're ready, go through the hole in the bathroom.

The Water Prison

You will regain consciousness on the floor of an odd, circular prison. Check out each of the middle cells to see what's inside. There are eight rooms, and since you start at the top of the circle, you can begin by checking the room ahead to your right. This will be Room 1. If you continue to check the rooms in a clockwise pattern, you can check Rooms 2 through B as labeled on the map. Since this floor layout is the same for the other prison floors, the same room humbering system will be used. This is what you'll find on the first floor:

Room 1: Broken Room 2: Pistol Bullets Room 3: Broken Room 4: Locked, with a person inside Room 5: Empty Room 6: Broken

Room 7: Note on the bed Room B: Tentacles (new enemy)

After you check out the rooms, head out to the door on the left wall between Rooms 4 and 5. Turn right and take the door in the corner. Run down the spiral staircase while avoiding the wall monsters on the left wall. Grab the Saint Medallion on the floor, then exit through the door at the bottom of the stairs.

Go down the small set of stairs and turn to your right. You'll see a sign next to a lamppost. Read the sign and take the Water Prison Exit Key at the foot of the sign. Turn around and circle back up the spiral stairs, all the way back to the top. Exit the spiral stair room and use the key on the locked door straight ahead to go outside. Take the two ladders up and enter the double doors on the second floor. Using the same system as the first floor, check all of the rooms in a clockwise pattern. Your first room ahead should be Room 5. Use your map for reference.

Room S: Broken Room 6: Broken Room 7: Broken Room B: Diary on the table Room 1: Room with bottled black powder

Room 2: Broken Room 3: Broken

Room 4: Note on the wall

After you finish checking the rooms, go back outside. Climb the ladder and enter the double doors for the third floor.

More rooms for you to check, except for one little surprise: a new enemy, Siamese Twins. Beat them down and go back to checking the rooms as usual.

Room S: Empty

Room 6: Hole in the floor (don't

Room 6: Hole in the floor (don jump in!)

Room 7: Hole in the floor (don't jump in!)

Room B: Note on the table Room 1: Pistol Bullets

Room 2: Hole in the floor (don't jump in!)
Room 3: Diary on the table

Go back outside when you're finished with the rooms. Climb the ladder and enter the double doors at the end of the walkway.

Go around the tower on the roof and turn the handle on the backside of the tower. Now head outside and take the ladder down to the third floor. Using the same numbering system, go into Room 6 and jump down the hole. Take the next two holes down until you reach the basement.

Kill the Twins and exit the shower room. Go down the left path and up the ladder. Grab the document from the desk.

This will instruct you to line up the rooms that have bloody beds in the prison. Look in the holes on the wall to find the room with the bloody bed (Room 1). Climb up the ladder to the second floor and take the document from the desk. Find the bloody bed on the second floor (Room 5). Use the handle on the second floor to line up this room with the one on the first floor (turn the handle left four times). Now climb up to the third floor and do the same thing for the third floor room: Take the note from the wall and turn the handle to the right two times.

Now the rooms with the bloody beds should all be aligned. Take the ladder down to the basement and return to the third floor of the prison from the outside. Enter Room 1 and jump down the holes until you reach the kitchen. Kill the Tentacles ahead and enter the double doors. Kill the next set of Tentacles and unlock the double doors ahead. Turn around and go back to the kitchen. Take the plate off the door and use the code "0302" to unlock it.

Back in your room, do all of your normal apartment checks.

Manage your inventory, save your progress and enter the hole for another adventure!

The Building World

Run down the narrow hallway and take the stairs down until you reach the door on the lower floor. You will encounter a new enemy type, Ape Mutants. Defeat, them with your pipe and move on through the door. Inside you'll see Chest invested to the floor with your pipes and move on through the door. Inside you'll see a Ghost pinned to the floor with a Sword of Obedience. Examine the ghost to take his key and the sword. Use the key on the door ahead.

Make your way down the stairs and take the door at the bottom while avoiding the ghost. Continue through the rooms, and collect the Pistol Bullets, a S-Iron and a Baseball Bat from the sporting goods shop. Equip the Baseball Bat as your new weapon and exit the shop across from where you entered. Continue down the stairs and enter the pet store. Clear out the "evil pets," then grab the Sports Store Key from the middle shelf, Return to the sports store and use the key on the locked door to the right.

Run down the stairs and take the path around the building to reach the elevator. Enter the elevator for a cutscene. The elevator will stop at the bottom floor, but there are two important items on the top floor that you can now obtain. Take the elevator back to the top floor and exit by using the left door. Run down to the end of this hallway and grab the Spade and another Sword of Obedience. Equip the Spade as your new melee weapon and run back to the elevator. Take it back to the bottom floor and go down the ladder.

Kill the Tentacles in the hall and climb up the ladder. Dash down the U-shaped hall while killing or avoiding the vicious dogs and apes. Move into the next hall and enter the door, then go down the stairs and into the door in the corner to enter a bar. Take the memo from the bar and the Rusty Axe from the table: Enter the code "3750" into the electronic lock and proceed. Climb the long path upstairs until you reach the top. Take the plate from the door and enter.

In your room, do your usual apartment stuff. Check your points of interest, manage your items (you should only need your weapon) and save your progress. Ready to move on? Enter the hole for your next nightmare!

The Apartment World

You begin this journey in the hallway of what seems to be your apartment. Enter Apartment 301 and go into the dark room. Remove the two keys from the back of the red pictures. Grab the red paper from the living room and exit Room 301. Go down the hall and slip the red paper through the door of 302. Exit the hallway through the double doors.

Sitting up on the stairs will be a man holding a Shabby Doll. He will tell you a story and offer you-the doll. Do not accept it-the doll is a curse!

Next, go to the bottom floor and use the Locker Key on the mailbox. Now enter the west wing on the first floor to reach Room 105. Use the Superintendent's Key to open up the door. Go grab the Apartment Keys on the wall and the two Red Papers next to the keys. These keys will open any room in the apartment, so it's time to go exploring. Be aware of the ghosts that chase you while you explore. Collect the Red Papers that you find in the rooms; they are essential for completing this level. Stick all of the Red Papers that you find underneath the 302 door. Use the lists and maps provided to make your journey quick and thorough. Start on the first floor and work your way up. First Floor—West Wing

Room 106: Medical Kit Room 107: Empty

Room 103: Empty
Room 102: Examine the fridge to find a Torn Red Paper Room 101: Pistol Bullets

Second Floor— West Wing Room 205: Cassette tape Room 206: Empty Room 207: Putter, Revolver (Do not use this weapon; save it for the last battle!) Second Floor— East Wing Room 204: Empty Room 203: Torn Red Paper inside bloody shirt

Room 201: Empty

Go up to the third floor and check Room 304 for Pistol Bullets. Now exit and place all of your Red Papers underneath the door to Room 302. Go into Room 301 and take the hole back to your apartment.

Head for the front door and read all of the messages on the floor. From the notes, you will learn that the key to Room 303 is next to your bed. Go to the right side of your bed to find it. Now you can backtrack through the hole and open the door for 303 in the Nightmare Realm.

Go to the front door, take the note and the Talisman and do your standard apartment stuff. If you go to the bathroom, you will notice that the hole is sealed. To create a new hole, go into the laundry room and use the Talisman on the stain on the wall. This will reveal a message with four indentures on the wall. Open up your trunk and take out the four places (Placards) that you have been collecting in each level. Use them on the indentures in the wall. Doing this will open up the new hole. Remember to manage your items and save before you enter it:

The Hospital

You will encounter a new enemy on the first floor of the hospital: Zombie Nurses. They are more humorous than harmful, as they belch when they are hit. Explore all of the rooms on the first floor before you go up the stairs to the second floor.

On the second floor, turn to your left and call the elevator but do not get in. Instead, turn around and explore all of the rooms on the second floor. There will be 11 rooms on the right side and 11 on the left. Check out all of the rooms and collect everything you find (the items inside are ran-generated). Your ultimate goal here is to find the key to unlock the room where Eileen is trapped (it's the only room that's locked). When you obtain the key, a cage will slam down and trap you.

Use the key you've just collected to free yourself. Now be sure find these items on the second floor before you free Eileen

Saint Medallion 4-Iron Holy Candle

2 Nutrition Drinks 2 Pistol Bullets Revolver Bullets

With Eileen is following you, you must not allow her to get hurt or left behind (unless it is intentional) Equip Eileen with the purse to allow her to help you in fights. Take Eileen down to the hole on the first floor and enter.

Go to your front door and take the red envelope containing the key. Now collect the three red letters on the side of the bookshelf. Do a routine apartment check-up and head back into the hole. From this point on, your apartment will no longer heal you, so be sure to take a healing item or two before venturing into the Nightmare Realm.

In the hospital, leave the washroom and turn left. Head through the elevator shaft on the first floor and use the Small Key on the gate on the other side. Move down the stairs and enter the door at the end. Take the spiral staircase to the bottom to enter the next realm.

The Subway (2nd Pass)

After traveling the small path, you will end up back at the subway. This should be familiar territory to you. Go back to the women's restroom and use the hole to return to the apartment.

Take the envelope with the Toy Key from the door and read the red letter; it will explain the curses that haunt your room. At this point there should be a curse somewhere in your room. Find it and cleanse it as explained earlier.

The "cleansing" ritual should become a part of your regular apartment routine from here on out. After you've done this, go into your trunk and grab Lynch Street Line Tokens, the Pistol and the Sword of Obedience. With these items and your Toy Key, head back to the subway.

Exit the restroom and head for the turnstiles to meet a very obnoxious ghost. Run south past the turnstiles. When you reach the dead end, next to the worm body, turn left and head up the stairs. You'll find the Silver Bullets, which you can use to lay out that ghost back at turnstiles.

Stun the ghost with the Silver Bullet, then impale it with the Sword of Obedience to immobilize it. With the area cleared, use the Subway Coins and go down the Lynch Street Line.

Take the stairs down and zig-zag through the train cars once again. Locate the Toy Box sitting on the seat inside the train. Use the Toy Key to open it up and get the Filthy Coin. Take the Filthy Coin back to your apartment via the women's restroom and wash it off it in your kitchen sink, when you have washed the coin and imished your normal apartment routine, go back to the subway

The Forest (2nd Pass) You'll end up back in the forest, with someone chasing after you! This man can't be killed, so just run from him. The first thing you should do is to grab the unlit torch next to the lit torch in the northwest corner of the room.

Use the torch to look into the dark wells scattered throughout the forest Light the unlit torch by equipping it and examining a lit torch. The torch can stay lit longer if you bring it to your apartment and soak it in the oil from your laundry room.

Travel back to the Lynch Street Line and head down to the trains. Find the vending machine on the platform that bears the same symbol as the one on the coin. Use the "clean" coin on the machine to obtain the Murder Scene Kev.

Run along the left platform and enter the room on the bottom right of the map. Take the ladder down to leave Eileen in this room. (Don't worry; she'll be safe.)' Avoid the ghosts and follow this path down to the King Street Line. Move down the platform until you reach the escalators. Run up the escalator as fast as you can while avoiding the ghosts to reach the murder scene, Grab Cynthia's Commuter Ticket from the floor to provide all access to the turnstiles. Now use the Murder Scene Key on the office door to the right to get the Frain Handle.

Exit the office and go out the turnstiles. Enter the turnstiles on the other side, then take the stairs down to retrieve Eileen from the room where you left her. Take her to the murder scene via the turnstiles (use Cynthia's Commuter Ticket). Take

The Water Prison (2nd Pass

After exiting the elevator, you will be on the top floor of the Water Prison. Make your way down the winding path and enter the third floor of the prison. Check the cells for items. The same numbering system is used:

- Room 1: Hole Room 2; Holy Candle
- Room 3: Empty Room 4: Hole
- Room 5: Nutrition Drink Room 6: Pistoi Bullets Room 7: Empty Room 8: Hole

When you're finished exploring, go back to Room 1 and jump down the hole to the basement kitchen. This will get you where you need to go and keep Eileen trapped for safekeeping; just remember that she is in there.

From the kitchen, exit the door with the keypad lock. Grab the Prisoner Shirt on the floor and go back to the kitchen. Exit the basement floor, then run up to the hole on the first floor of the prison. Enter the hole to go back to your apartment. Go into your bathroom and soak the Prisoner's Shirt in the bathtub. Once you've read the message on the shirt, head back to the prison.

The Water Prison (2nd Pass)

Go up to the second floor of the prison and grab the Sword of Obedience from under the bed in Room 5. You can check the rest of the rooms on this floor and the first floor for items, but doing so is not necessary to complete the level.

You will see a cutscene of the ghost you have to impale. Strike the ghost down and impale him with the sword. Take the Water Prison Generator Room Key that he holds, then grab Elleen from Room 1 on the third floor.

Take Eileen all the way back down to B2 and enter the door on the left. Kill the six Twins in the room, then go through the marked door ahead; it leads to a spiral staircase into the next realm.

The Building World (2nd Pass)

Pick up, the diary on the floor to view your new tasks; put candles on a cake, put the cat in the cage, place the volleybail in the sport store bin and place the cueball, on the pool table. To make your life easier, I recommend pinning down the ghost at the start of the level with a Sword of Obedience. This will allow you to leave Eileen in the beginning section safely.

Enter the elevator and take it to the top floor. Follow the path around the building and go up the stairs into the sports store. Grab the Birthday Candles from the counter and exit through the door near the hole (notice the volleyball bin in the corner of this room).

Take this path and go up the set of stairs to the top. In this room you'll find a birthday cake on the table and a Stuffed Cat in the corner. Put the candles on the cake and grab the cat. Go-back the way you came and return to the sports store. From here, exit through the north door and go down the stairs to the pet store. Place the Stuffed Cat in the cage on the counter, then return to the elevator you took at the start of the level.

Go to the bottom floor and take the ladder down. Kill the tentacles to go down the path, grab the Cueball and go up the ladder.

Room 302 of the Past

Check the table in the living room for two books. Move on to the bedroom and take the four red notes that are scattered across the room. Head back to the living room for a cutscene. Afterward, take the Pickaxe of Hope from the wall and go through the hole in the bathroom. Back in your apartment, use the pickaxe on the same wall where you found it. Examine the hanging body and take the Keys of Liberation. Use these keys on your front door!

Travel down the U-hallway and find the Volleyball in the boxes next to the door at the end of the path. Enter the door and move down the pathway to reach the bar-Place the Cueball on the pool table and take the note from the bar.

Return to the sports store to drop the Volleyball in the bin. On the way, meet Eileen at the start of the level and take her with you. After you drop the Volleyball in the bin, take the north door and travel down to the pet store. Go through the pet store and exit the northwest door.

Run down the flight of stairs into the next room, Enter through the door with the upside-down clock and follow this path down the stairs, until it leads you back to the U-hallway. Travel down the U-hallway and head back to the bar, Use the code "4890" on the electronic keypad on the door to enter.

Run down the endless set of stais and enter the door at the bottom. Here you'll fight a huge set of Wall. Monsters hanging over a dark pit. All of the Wall Monsters are fake except for one (which is fandom). Find the real Wall Monster and thop it to bits (you'll know you've found the real.)

(you'll know you've found the real one if the other Wall Monsters get injured when you hit it).

The Apartment World (2nd Pass)

Your goal here is to reach the Superintendent's room (Room 105), but the hallways are now blocked by Iron gates. You must shimmy through the holes in the walls between apartments to make your way döwn. Go Into Room 301-and take the stairs down; this will lead you to Rdom 201. Exit and go into Room 202. Cross the hole in the-wall to go into Room 203 and exit. Take the double doors out and head into the west wing. Enter Room 206 and cross over into Room 207. Leave 207 and take the stairs down. When you reach Room 105, you'll find the door locked by six chains.

To open the door, you must find the six corpses hanging around the first floor. Go to the east wing of the first floor to find one of them. You will find the next four corpses in Rooms 104, 103, 102 and 101. The final corpse is the end of the east wing hall.

The Apartment World (2nd Pass)

Now head back to Room 105 and go in. Take the Red Box on the bookshelf that contains the Umbilical Cord. Just what you were looking for! Get back to Room 302 the same way you took to get here.

Once you're in your apartment, eliminate any curses that may be left in the room and save your game. It's time to load up your gear for the final battle! I recommend that you take the following items:

- Umbilical Cord (required)
- Revolver (strongly recommended) Revolver Bullets (3x) (strongly recommended) Pickaxe of Despair
- Ampoule (or your best healing items)
- Leave three inventory slots open Leaving three slots open is crucial if you want to defeat the final boss in time to save Eileen's life.

When you're ready to go, head over to the break in the wall. Examine the black puddle beneath the cross to warp to the final showdown!

ENDINGS

There are four different endings in Silent Hill 4, and they depend on two variables: Whether Eileen lives or dies, and whether your apartment was clean or still had evil spirits. Here is the breakdown of the endings:

est ending: "Escape"-Eileen lives and your apartment is Good ending: "Mother"-Eileen lives, but your apartment is

SECRET ITEMS

Eileen's Costume

To obtain Eileen's "nurse" costume, you ⇔ must first beat the game and achieve an Eileen lives ("Escape" or "Mother"). Play the game again with the same save file ("A brand new fear") and collect the "Nurse's Uniform from Room #303. Keep the uniform in your inventory as you beat the game; do not put the uniform in your trunk. You must beat the game and achieve the other ending where Eileen survives (i.e. if you got the Escape" ending the first time, you must get the "Mother" ending the second time or vice-versa). When you have done this, load the save file with the two saved endings and you will be able to select Eileen's secret outfit.

The Final Battle

You will finally be able to face the man who has been chasing you all this time. Eileen will be there as well, but she will be in a zombie-like trance, moving toward certain death. The only way to save her is to defeat the man in black before she walks into the death machine. Use these steps to kill him as quickly as possible:

1) Run over to the huge monster in the center and use the Umbilical Cord on it.

2) Rush to the leftmost spear in the room (there four spears to the left of the monster, four to the right) and start yanking the spears out of the statues. Pull out the four spears and use them all on the monster at once. Now go over to the rightmost spear and start pulling those four spears out of the statues. Use the next four spears on the monster at once. This is the reason why you needed three open slots in your inventory.

3) With all eight spears in the mon* ster, the man in will now be vulnerable to attack. Pummel him with two fully charged hits from your Pickaxe of Despair. Now pull out your Revolver and start unloading on the man in black. You should be able to finish him off before Eileen even reaches the stairs! You can kill him with four fully-charged hits from the Pickaxe if you don't have enough Revolver ammo, but sometimes it can be difficult to nail him with the slow-moving Pickaxe; this is why the Revolver is recommended.

Chainsaw

If you load a save file that has been cleared ("A brand new fear") and play through the game again, you will find a Chainsaw stuck in a tree in the forest world by Jasper's car.

alleon puts players in the swast buckling role of Rhama sabrier. a buccaneer and explorer why is willful on to investigate a mysterious ship that's washed ashore on a remote island. Of course, from this simple beginning blossoms an adventure of epic scale, as Rhama must follow the hijectic d ship around the world in a race against a power-hungry madman and hit cronics. You'll explore massive island caverns, undersea chasms and vast ancient rains during the course of the game. This guide provides a complete well-through of Grilleon, with solutions to the puzzles and tips for defeating the enemies you'll encounter along the way.

This walkthrough begins after the training sessions that teach you the basics of movement and combat. I'll assume that you have an inquisitive nature and will snoop around in dark corners and high crevices for hidden items and loot. The walkthrough focuses mainly on what you need to accomplish to get from the beginning of the game to its conclusion, although I've also included information for finding all five of the powerful secret swords. Other items like healing mushrooms, pistols and potions are easily spotted by their telltale glow, although I have pointed out the locations of some of them. As long as you leave no stone unturned, you'll have little trouble finding plenty of items to keep you alive and healthy during the long quest.

Act l: Akbah

In the shop are a few things you must examine to advance the story: the grog barrel, the tankard on the second floor and the crates of fruit. One thing that you don't have to do-but you should-is to let the parrot out of its cage; later in the game, this will pay off big!

Outside the shop, you'll meet Areliano and his daughter, Faith. You'll need to follow them to their house, but be sure to grab the two healing mushrooms in the area around the shop before heading through the iron gate. You'll find more of these items along the path to the house (check the stone

Inside Areliano's house, go upstairs to the last room to find Faith, and have her heal you. Then return downstairs to the lab where Areliano will reveal a secret passageway leading to an underground lake.

On the mysterious boat, you'll need to examine seven points to make an assessment about its origins. Start by examining the mast. then use the hatch to go below deck. Use the button on the pedestal to open a door on the main deck, then examine the wooden statues before returning topside. Enter the greenhouse through the now-open door at the back of the main deck. Follow the walkway and pick up the key, then examine the two skeletons. Go to the front of the ship and carefully walk around the small ledge on the starboard side to find a hole in the prow. Go through the hole and examine the steering wheel and the debris on the ground. Use the button on the pedestal to open the door. Go back below deck and open the door with the key. Examine the instruments on the counter. With all seven objects examined, return topside to present your discoveries to Areliano.

ou Pac Reunolds

The pirates are escaping with the boat! Follow their path up the diff face to the right of Areliano's house. Race across the plains and leap from the cliff into the waters below. Swim to the boat-the ladder is on the starboard side—and dimb aboard within the 3:00 time limit to confront Jabez and his men.

Whether or not you managed to board the boat in time, you'll end up back on the beach. You can explore the island completely at this point, to collect any mushrooms or other items you might have missed. Talk to Faith when you're ready to set sail for the next island.

If you caught up to the boat and defeated the three enemies on deck before the timer ran out, and if you let the parrot out of its cage in the shop (I told you that was important), you'll find the bird sitting on one of the shored boats on the beach. Look at the parrot and he'll fly away. Now, return to the shop. There are several ways to get there from the beach: the easiest is to turn right on the beach and jump into the water, swim to the second section of rough rock in the cliff wall and climb to the top. This puts you just outside the gate leading to the shop area. Climb onto the cannon and jump up to the open second-story window. On the shop's second floor, you'll find the first secret sword, the parrot's thank you gift for setting it free.

Act II: Calverly

Swim to shore and head to the left to find the entrance to a cave, and a sword. Three giant crabs will appear when you take the sword, so practice using your new weapon on the oversized crustaceans before continuing into

Inside the cave, walk along the narrow ledge (go very slowly past the giant fungus to avoid disturbing it) and climb the rough rock at the end to reach a passage high above. Go hand over hand along the jutting overhang to the next platform, and move the large boulder out of the way to reveal another cavern entrance. Dive into the water below and swim through the tunnel until you reach an air pocket. Take the mushroom, then jump into the second watery tunnel from the air pocket room. Follow this tunnel to the lava caves.

Traverse through the lava caves by hopping from platform to platform. Be careful to avoid the steam vents and lava floes; steam will scald Rhama and damage him, while lava will kill him out-

In the next area, several tall poles are sticking up from the ground. To reach the far side, you must cross the poles. You can walk onto them normally, but some are unsteady and will begin to wobble and eventually fall over. Move quickly across the poles to reach the far side.

Push the flat rock onto the steam vent to reach the high ground where a giant crab awaits. To defeat the crab, you'll need to jump onto its shell, then climb up and attack the head area. Stay behind the crab to avoid its attacks when you're on the ground. Three good hits will drop the giant monster.

Climb up to the next ledge and push the boulder aside to enter the next area.

There are a lot of things to do in the large shipyard cavern. Start by diving into the lake and swimming to the bottom. Look for a passage that leads to a small underwater cavern. At the bottom of this cavern is a shipwreck with a skeleton holding a hammer. Watch out for giant eels in the walls as you take the hammer and return to the main cavern.

Look for the lift to the right of the main entrance to the shipyard. You can pull the lever, but it won't help-a pin is missing, so the lift is stuck on the ground level for now. Head to the left of the entrance. defeat the enemies and make your way up the platforms until you reach another lever, just before a moving platform. Pull the lever as the platform approaches. This opens a door straight ahead, near the waterfall, but the door closes after a short time. You'll need to run quickly to beat the timer! In the room beyond the door, defeat the enemies and then climb the ladder to find the pin. Unfortunately, the pin is bent; it must be straightened before it will fit into the lift.

Back in the main shipyard cavern, climb the ladder to the right of the door and cross the high platforms (you'll need a long running start to make the jump between the bridges). This path will bring you to the forge room. Use the forge to straighten the bent pin. Return to the lift and repair it, then ride it to the top.

Enter the cave and you'll be attacked by Brice, a henchman with a fire-shooting pistol. Stay on the move to avoid his shots, attacking when you can get close to him. A good way to finish Brice quickly is to continuously throw him into the lava river nearby, which drains his health bar very quickly.

Cross the next cavern—stay out of the water, it's boiling hot-and you'll face another henchman, Farrant is a master of unarmed combat; he'll bring the fight to you. When his fists glow red, he'll begin his charging attack, which does a lot of damage-try to avoid this one at all costs. When Farrant is defeated, use the lever to open the door to the next area.

Board Jabez's boat and go below deck. Defeat the pirates there to recover a key. Open the door to the galley (the same door this key opened during the exploration of the boat) and rescue Faith. Leave the boat and head to the left on the walkways to enter another cave.

Follow the tutorial for giving orders to Faith and having her open sealed doors. You'll soon arrive at a small plateau with four colored levers. Each lever moves a suspended ore cart along the preset path. Pull the red, blue and green levers, then step onto the red cart. Lock on to the red lever and order Faith to pull it. Hop onto the green cart and have Faith pull the green lever to move it toward the blue cart. Move onto the blue cart and ask Faith to pull the blue lever. Finally, have Faith pull the yellow lever. The yellow cart drops down and then goes back up again, so you'll need to jump on it with careful timing. At the top, ride the lift up, then follow the walkway along until you reach the shortcut lever.

Look for the long, narrow pipe leading forward. Instead of walking across it (you'll come back and do that in a moment), climb up the wall on the right. Follow the rough rock around to a small plateau. Enter the cave there to find a Haste potion and the Calverly secret sword. Return to the walkways and cross the thin pipe.

Act II: Calverly

Continue along the walkways (be sure to sneak past the fungus on the wall to avoid getting hurt) and cross the two moving platforms. Watch for the rough rock walls—you'll need to climb down the wall just past the moving platforms and then back up to reach the exit to the exterior of the mountain.

On top of the mountain is a giant windmill that operates a winch mechanism connected to the boat below. Take the lift up to the platform with the save point and pull the lever there to bring a second lift down. Ride this lift up and use the lever to stop the windmill. Next, find the large cog (It's flash-Next, find the large cog (It's flashing) in the gear mechanism of the windmill and push it into place with the other cogs. Return to the lever and start the windmill running again.

Return to the area with the cogs and use the hook to reach the other side of the windmill. Push the large cog twice to maneuver, it over to the other mechanism, then return to the lever and start up the windmill again. After the cutscene, a timer will start—you have 3:00 to get to Calverly!

Run straight ahead until you see the ladder leading down from the mechanism toward the boat. After going down the ladder, leap onto the green section of the boat (if possible, onto the wooden mast running just above the boat). Run along the mast and jump at the end to reach the platform on the far side. Follow the passage to reach the outside of the mountain. Defeat the spear-wielding enemies in this area and run up the narrow path alongside the mountain. Keep your speed up; you'll need to make a long jump across a gap in the pathway. Follow the path the rest of the way to Calverly's house.

Jabez has brought two Neptune statues to life! Luckily, the statues are very slow-moving, and their trident attacks are easy to see coming. Wait until a statue leans forward to attack, then run around and jump onto its back, climb up to its head and strike with your sword. Repeat this process on both statues to defeat them.

The island is collapsing around youl Race through the caves, avoiding the lava and falling rocks to beat the timer and escape alive. You'll need to keep up your speed (which shouldn't be a problem) to make the long jumps over chasms along the way.

Act III: The Storm

You're thrown into the stormy sea and must swim to the island within the time limit. Here's the best route to take: Dive straight down and into the crevice (it's lined with blue crystals). Follow the crevice, heading left at the branch. At the end is a large rock. Using the rock to shield you from the current, swim to the surface to refill your breath meter. Dive back down and swim to the right, toward the smaller rock. Try to stay near the sand to avoid the current. When you reach the small rock, swim ahead to the next large rock. You can catch your breath here before diving back down. Now look for another crevice along the sea floor, this time lined with sand. Follow this crevice to the beach and onto the island.

Act IV: Slave Piz

You wake up in a cell. Walk toward the solid metal door and it will open. Enter the arena and you'll face off against Mihoko, an assassin under a powerful mind control spell. Use running Y button attacks to inflict big damage. When her health runs out, she'll become momentarily dazed: grab become momentarily dazed: grab her with the R button to remove the binding from her forehead and break the spell. If you miss the grab or wait too long, her health bar will refill and you'll have to fight again.

After rescuing Mihoko, you'll face the pit monster, a lumbering beast that spits acid and causes small shockwaves when it charges around the arena. Stay behind it, out of its reach, and wait for it to squat down a bit after making a few attacks. Jump onto its back and climb up to its head—this is the time to attack. Three hits will finish the pit monster and open a hole in the wall through which you can escape.

Pull the lever on the left to open a large door back in the arena. It leads to a cavern with a mushroom and pistol. Return to the levers and try the one on the right. It opens a small door in the arena, but the lever is broken. Mihoko will hold it open for several seconds: run back into the arena and through the door to enter the animal pens.

The lion pens form a grid of cages, with an ext on the far side. You must make your way through the empty cells to reach the exit. The animal keeper runs around on top of the cages, lifting doors to let the lions move from cage to cage. If a lion and Rhama are in the same cell, Rhama will take a lot of damage. Keep an eye on the movement of the tigers and make your way through the empty cages to the exit.

In the room above the lion cages, you'll face off against the animal keeper. He brings two lions up from the cages to use against you. The lions are surprisingly slow (you can even stun them with Y button attacks), and the animal keeper does more running away than fighting. Simply chase after him and attack him until he falls; the lions will drop with him.

Pull the lever next to the door to open the reinforced cell with the keys and Rhama's sword. Now you must clear the central path through the animal cages by lifting the gates between cages so the lions and panthers can move around. If you lift a gate between two cages containing a lion and a panther, they'll trade places. When you've cleared the center path through the cages, a cutscene will show that the path is safe. Go downstairs and through the cages to collect the keys and sword.

Act IV: Slave Pic

Run back upstairs to the room above the cages and you'll fight the sabertooth tiger. Use jumping kicks followed by hand-to-hand combo attacks. When the tiger glows blue, it's invulnerable to attack. Jump toward it, kick as you land and immediately follow with whatever attacks you can muster whatever attacks you can muster before it runs away. Keep repeating this tactic and you shouldn't have much trouble beating the tiger.

Use the key to unlock the door leading back into the room where Mihoko is waiting. Unlock the other door here, which leads into the prison area. Fight the guards and open the first cell door to collect a pistol. The other doors are locked and your key doesn't fit, so head down the corridor; you'll fall through a trap door and be dumpe through a trap door and be dumped into another fight in a large cavern below.

The giant pit monster has the same attacks as the smaller version you faced in the arena, but it does more damage. It's also taller, so you'll have to climb up one of the rocks in the area and jump onto the beast from there. Attacking the monster's head will stun it and knock it flat on its back. You'll have a short amount of time to scramble up onto its belly and get some hits in before it regains its footing. If you attack fast enough, you can defeat this pit monster after knocking it down just two times.

Climb the walls to reach the waste chute, then climb along the roof above the chute to exit the cavern. This leads to the torture chamber, where you'll need to defeat several enemies. Pull both levers in the room—they open doors elsewhere in the area—and exit the chamber via the red double doors also where in the area—and double doors.

It's time to battle the head jailor and take his keys. He's not much of a fighter, and Mihoko will join the battle as well. His one trick is to occasionally pull the lever that opens the trap door leading into the large cavern below, so make sure you're not standing on the trap during the fight. While he's putting away his sword and pulling the lever, he's still vulnerable to your attacks, so be sure to get a few good combos in each time he does this. When he's defeated, head along the corridor and you'll come to one of the doors you opened from the torture chamber. There's a pressure-sensitive plate in the floor in front of the door; if you step on it, the door will close. Jump over the plate to the door and you'll be able to make it through before it closes. Take the triangle handle key and the pistol from the room, then return to the corridor.

Back in the corridor, turn right and take the first passage on the right to enter a large room with two levers and several guards to fight. Pull both levers. One of them opens a door directly across the room from the levers. There's a pressure plate on the floor; stepping on it sets off a dart trap. Jump over it and take the square handle key from the floor. Return to the main corridor and head left to the jail cells. Release the prisoners and Bosun (be sure to collect the mushrooms in the cells).

Now head back down the corridor toward the torture chamber, but follow the second passage on the right. You'll find a long narrow walkway over a pit of water. There are giant hammers suspended from the ceilling here; stepping on the pressure plates on the walkway will set them swinging across your path. Step on a plate, quickly step back, then run across when the hammer passes by. Repeat this for all of the traps to reach the end of the bridge. The two keys (triangle and square) open the door at the end, and a lever there will deactivate the hammers.

To open the door, both handles must be lifted at the same time. Lock on to one handle and order Bosun to use it. Use the other handle at the same time, and the door will open. Explore the docks to find a mushroom and a pistol, then enter the large cave nearby. There's a gate leading into the palace here.

You'll need to scale the wall to get past the gate, then open it from the other side to let Bosun and Mihoko through.

In the next area, enter the cave behind the royal box overlooking the arena. This leads to a second gate. Climb the walls to the right of the waterfall and jump across to the platform. Get a running start and jump to the rocky outcropping, then climb to the top to find the door leading to the next area.

The room of death (filled with buzzsaws, spikes and flames) leads to the secret sword for this area. However, as the name suggests, it's instant death to go in there. Instead, follow the passage to the right of the room. When you come to the large gap, jump to the wall and drop down into

I The same and the committee of the same and the same and the room of death just in front of the metal door. Jump through the door as it opens to collect the sword. To leave the room of death, jump back across the boiling water to the platform in front of the door, then turn around and jump to the high platform with the exit door.

Follow the spiral staircase down into a tunnel. Head down the stairs there and pull the chain to open the second gate and let your companions through. Fight the guard before returning to the tunnel and taking the stairs leading up. Follow the spiral staircase up until you see an outcropping of requip rock on the well to the of rough rock on the wall to the right, Jump there and climb to the top.  $% \label{eq:condition}%$

Cross the beam of wood, then climb up the cliff and across the outcropping to reach a small opening in the mountainside. Jump across to the staircase and head down to let Mihoko and Bosun through the third gate. At the top of the stairs are three bar mechanisms. As long as Mihoko and Bosun are with you, you'll automatically use the bars to open the door leading out and finish the stage.

Act V: Slave Palace

From the start, head to the right along the ledges. The path is easy to follow, although the flaming rocks from the palace catapults can make the going tough. Keep checking the positions of incoming rocks as you progress—getting hit by a rock or its flames does a lot of damage.

Carefully jump across the large columns. If a jump is too short, hold the R button and you might still be able to grab hold of the side of a column and climb to the top. The columns lead to a small cave that runs under the palace. Inside the cave, fight the guardand find the water hole in the far and find the water hole in the far corner. Jump in and swim through the underwater passage to emerge in a new cavern. Wall-jump to the small ledge.

Climb the patches of rough rock to the top; you'll soon climb out of a well and onto the palace grounds. Fight the guards and follow the path leading into the gardens. Head through the gardens until you reach the courtyard with the catapults and drawbridge. Pull the lever here to lower the drawbridge. Bosun and Mihoko will join you inside the palace now.

Follow the courtyard around until you reach the panther enciosure. Jump over the fence and pull the lever to open the gate and let your companions through. The animals will come out to attack you, but if you hop up onto the rocks and let Mihoko and Bosun handle the fighting, they won't get killed, and you won't lose any health. When the cats are all defeated, head to the far side of the enclosure and jump onto the raised walk-way. You'll find a lever that opens a cell where two of your crewmen are being held. Go down the stairs and open the second gate, then re-renter the enclosure. Stand on the cradle of the catapult and it will launch you onto the palace rooftop. Turn right and drop into another garden area with a well and a large log.

You can't move the log on your own, and the well doesn't lead anywhers, so head through the passage to unlock the large door that's keeping your companions from joining you. Return to the log and Bosun and the crewmen will help lift it. The group uses the log to smash through the main gate of the palace.

From the main entry hall, take the passage to the right to reach the kitchen. Fight the guards, then pull the second lever to cover the fire pit. Stand on the cover stone and jump up into the chimney above the fire pit. In the next room, go up the stairs and follow the walkway to a small courtyard with a catapult. Use the catapult to launch yourself up to the top of the guard tower.

Fight the elite guard in the room atop the tower and take the statue key before opening the doors leading out of the tower. A timer will start, so run down the stairs, Ignoring the guards you pass. You'll run through several rooms along the way—avoid the flames, steam, boiling water and falling debris and keep heading down the stairs until you exit the tower.

At the bottom, you'll find that Milhoko has been caught in Wei-Long's force field attack. Jump up to the rafters and cross above the force field. Enter the room where Wei-Long is concentrating on keeping his field up to rescue Mihoko. Follow Milhoko through the next door and you'll be in the main hall of the palace. You can put the first key into the lock on the wall near the large doors. Return to the entrance hall and enter the room opposite the hallway that led to the kitchen.

Use the ventilation ducts along the wall to reach the high walkway. Fight off the guards, then climb onto the statue's shoulders and break each of its earnings. This causes the statue's head to fall into the pool below, breaking open a hole in the floor. Dive down into the hole and you'll find a large underwater tunnel with a strong current. Look along the side walls for a smaller tunnel that's lit by a green crystal at its entrance. Follow this tunnel and you'll reach a grate in the wall. Move the grate, swim through, and you'll emerge from another pool.

Use the ledges in the walls to reach the top of the harem tower. The inside of this tower is a giant lock. You must turn the wheel to unlock it. This might seem difficult, but it's actually very easy. Simply start by turning the wheel to the left. Keep turning it until you hear a loud noise at the start of a turn. Now reverse direction and turn the wheel to the right until you hear the same loud noise. Each time you hear the noise, reverse direction until the tower unlocks.

Head up the spiral staircase, staying to the far left side to avoid the stone block traps and trap doors along the way. At the top, you'll have to fight another elite guard; this one use hand-to-hand combat and will try to throw you over the balcony, which will kill you instantly if you hit the ground at the bottom of the tower. If you have a strength potion, drink it and then use running Y button attacks to quickly defeat him. After doing so, you'll automatically rescue Calverly. Take the second key from the floor before retracing your path back to the baths (the room with the giant statue) and out into the main courtyard (where the drawbridge is located).

In the courtyard, lock on to the treasurer (he's sitting on top of the tower) and talk to him. Calverly will steal his key while he's distracted. Walk out onto the lowered drawbridge and unhook the chain, sending it back to its casing inside the courtyard. Use the key on the pedestal to lower the treasury tower. Walk to the hook and use it to attach it to the treasury door. Pull the lever that locks the drawbridge chain, then use the pedestal key again to raise the tower, pulling the door from the small building at the top. Finally, turn the pedestal key to lower the tower and walk into the treasury to recover the third key.

Return to the main hall and insert the second and third keys into the wall near the large doors. Now head up the stairs and through the door on the second level of the main hall. You'll rejoin Mihoko and Calverly will unlock the gate there to let you into the next room. Climb the stairs and jump onto the moving platform, then to the ledge that leads into the next area.

Act V: Slave Palace

In the next room, you'll find a series of springboards. Stand on the springboard on the ground floor (be sure to stand near the back) and it will automatically propel you up and onto the next board. Continue this process until you reach the exit. Follow the passageways to the next room.

Next up: the room of fire. To exit, you must stay off of the floor for 20 seconds. This means you'll need to balance on the poles while avoiding the flame jets. Before you start climbing poles, though, look at the flame jets on the walls. Two of them aren't working, so one of the poles is safe. Get to the safe pole quickly and you'll easily defeat the room of fire.

Mihoko will join your party in the next room, which means that you can give her some basic orders. You'll need her help to traverse the room's many walkways and ladders. To reach a high walkway, order to theme to the Eletoka ladder. She'll jump to the walkway. You can jump up now, and Mihoko will pull you up alongside her. On the first walkway (with the ring in the middle) you'll need to jump up to another walkway, then make a running jump across to the far walkway. From here, you can use Mihoko to negotiate two more broken ladders and leave the room.

To obtain the fourth and final key, you must defeat another elite guard. This one uses grapples and can dizzy you repeatedly. Use the Y button to shake off a dizzy spell and to break his grapple attempts. Keep attacking until he's defeated. With the final key in your possession, return to the main hall and open the double doors leading to the governor's private guarters.

Ask Mihoko to pull the lever in the next room and the locked lift will rise up, sending a counterweight down to the ground floor. Climb onto the counterweight and ask Mihoko to pull the lever again, bringing the lift down and raising the counterweight to the top. Climb the stairs to the top of the tower to face the governor. Before the fight, you must put your weapons on the Sable in the Loom. The governor goes offer Faith, leaving his bodyguards to attack you. Protect Faith by keeping the pressure on the governor until he's defeated.

Head into the water and you'll find the first golem piece near the to Mihoko and she'll transfer some of her air to you.

Enter the wreck through the hole in the main deck. Swim toward the rear of the ship and you'll find a hole in the floor leading down to the next deck. Swim through the door in the back wall and turn right. Swim through an opening in the ceiling to find the second golem piece. When you collect it, the ship will begin to capsize-you'll have 30 seconds to retrace your path back outside before it falls into the chasm!

Swim ahead toward the coral reef formation. On the other side of the reef is a small ruin; the third golem piece is inside.

Swim to the left around the coral and dive deeper to find some more ruins. Look for the buildings with the black and white roofs and you'll find the fourth golem piece on a rooftop. Now swim back up to the coral reef formation and enter it from the top. About midway down, you'll find the fifth and final golem piece sitting on a rocky outcropping. Return to the shore and enter the golem to pilot it against the hydra.

This battle can be either very easy or ridiculously difficult. To defeat the hydra, you must throw it into the lava pit. This means that if the hydra gets too far from the lava, the battle will likely drag on for a long time. Luckily, the hydra starts the battle just in front of the pit. Don't waste any time-run straight at the giant monster and jump-kick it toward the pit, then grab and throw it into the lava. If you're quick enough, that's all it takes to win this clash of the titans. When the battle is over, climb down to the ground and enter the building that the golem is sitting on.

Fight the skeletons inside the main hall (they behave exactly the same as the human enemies you've been facing up to this point), then enter the door on the left wall to meet up with Faith. Go back to the main hall with Faith and Mihoko in tow. Head up the stairs on the right and look for a broken ladder on the walkway to the left. Order Mihoko to climb to the top, then tell Faith to do the same. Give Faith a boost up, and Mihoko will pull her to the top. Tell Mihoko to use the ladder again, and jump toward it to have her pull you up as well. Head through the nearby door.

In the laboratory, lock on to the stone door and have Faith open it. Defeat the skeletons in the next room, then crawl through the crack in the wall to enter the library. Now you need to get Faith into the Library. Exit via the door on the right wall to get back to the main hall, then jump down to the ground floor and return to the broken ladder. Faith is waiting patiently there. Have her jump down (make sure you catch her), then take the long way back to the library, around the walkway on the walls (be careful of the giant fungus along the way). In the library, have Faith use the button on the pedestal to start the moving platforms.

Act VI: Ankon

Back near the crack in the wall where you first entered the library, climb up to the shelves and then ride the moving platforms to collect the Lizard key. Jump onto the next platform, then onto the open shelves on the top row. From there, hop to the last platform and it will take you to the shelf with the Alligator key. Next, return to the main hall.

Climb down to the huge tree. Find the area with a large red mushroom and climb up to the ledges near the blue mushrooms. Enter the tree and carefully drop down to the lower ledge, then walk over to the platform with the secret sword for this stage. Exit the tree and enter the door to collect the herb. Return to the library to show the herb to Faith.

To restart the generator, you must manipulate the arms of the three boxes on the far wall. The correct sequence, starting from the box on the left, is: left, left, center. Return to the main hall and drop down to the bottom floor again. The door on the right side of the tree is powered up and can now be opened.

Inside the room is another hydra egg (try to avoid all of them now; getting too close will cause the dangerous baby hydras inside to hatch) and a hollowed-out section of tree root. Follow the root to an open chamber, where you'll need to wall-jump and then climb a vein of rough rock to enter the flaming library. To reach the key, head up the shelves to the left, then climb the rough rock wall over to the other side of the room. Traverse the shelves there until you reach the key. To escape the library, drop straight down from the shelf with the key, head down the stairs and out the side passage.

Back in the main hall, turn left and enter the next door on the left. Fight the golem in the next room. and have Faith open the stone door. In the next room is the fuse you'll need to give power to the large doors in the main hall. Return to the generator room and place the fuse in its spot on the floor.

Now go to the large doors in the main hall and have Faith use one of the buttons while you use the other. This will open the doors and give you access to the map room. In the map room, head to the back and down the stairs.

There's a small room there with a small boulder blocking beams of light. Move the beams and return to the main map room. Fight the skeletons that appear and move to the area with several pedestals in front of the hologram head.

Pressing the button on each pedestal will cause the hologram head to speak a different sound. You must get the head to sound out "Epheremy." The buttons to do this are the second from the left, the sixth from the left and the fourth from the right, You'll need to have Faith and Mihoko use two

heremu

After the statue is destroyed, head through the door to the right; it leads to a garden. There are two transform rings and four crystals in this area. Go right and climb up and over the rocky wall to find the first transform ring.

Go back to the main garden area and head through the door in the back to find the transform circle. Have Faith use it and Rhama will shrink down to doll-size. Return to the garden (you'll need to ask Faith or Mihoko to open the door for you now).

Head to the far right wall and climb the tree. Walk out on the long branch and jump across to the branch of another tree to find the first crystal. The crystal is far too large for Rhama to pocket in his diminutive state, but you can push it off of the tree for collection from the ground later. Next, head toward the transform circle door and jump into the pool of water on the left. Swim through the pipe to enter the golem lab.

In the lab, one of the golems is activated and will try to crush you. Jump onto the platform in the middle of the room and stand on the far green button. Wait for the golem to attempt to crush you, then back off the button and the golem will activate it instead. Repeat with the second button.

This one will open the door leading to the garden, allowing Mihoko to enter the lab and defeat the golem.

Next, you'll need to ride the mechanical arms to reach the three crystals in the room, First, climb onto the open chest's lid and jump to the platform. Climb onto the first mechanical arm, then transfer to the next two arms to ride up. Jump into the alcove, then climb up to the crystal and push it off the edge. Now take the mechanical arms across to the large platform suspended from the ceiling in the middle of the room. Take the arms on the other side across and make your way through the steam jets. Climb the fencing to reach the shelf with the second crystal. Open the cage and push the crystal onto the floor.

heremu

To get the last crystal, go back to the chest, get up on the lid and run along to the right, jumping to the ledge. Follow the ledge along, under the shelf with the crystal; you'll find a small opening in the wall at the far end. Jump up into it and follow along to reach the shelf with the crystal.

Open the cage and the crystal will drop to the ground level, Return to the transform circle and have Faith return you to normal size. Now collect all four crystals and the second ring (from the main platform in the golem lab). Return to the area with the broken statue. Enter the door to the left of the broken statue.

The Air Castle consists of floating platforms and ruins. Hidden among these structures are six more crystals and two rings. You'll need the rings first. From the start, head to the right until you reach the first tower. Look for the floating pieces of staircase that mark the bottom of this tower.

From the water ring platform, drop down and hold the Jump button to let the currents lift you back up. Look around and you'll spot a ledge near the bottom of one of the large rocks with a crystal on it. Float toward it, or grab onto the nearby rock and jump over to the ledge to collect the crystal. Go into the cave from there and you'll find the Epheremy secret sword in an alcove (look for the pistol on the edge).

Search around the area to find a couple of the crystals-one is on a platform with a golem. The golems are easily dispatched by three pistol shots, or a few Y button attacks from the Epheremy secret sword. Be careful when fighting the golem on the platform; its spinning arm attack will knock you off.

Find the building with two golems guarding the main room. Head upstairs and climb up the floating platforms to the top. Run across the floating ruins and activate the water circle to raise a water tube nearby. Swim to the top, then jump to the platform with the air ring. Return to the main room of the building (where the golems were) and activate the water button on the pedestal near the door. Swim through the tube to enter the locked room and activate the air button located there to start a series of blocks outside floating upward. Ride a block to the top and jump to the roof of the tower. Climb to the top to find a crystal.

You now have the tools necessary to find the remaining crystals. Look on the top of the towers, and keep an eye on the indicators in the lower corner; they will start flashing when you approach a crystal. Use the air circles to gain a temporary super jump and the water circles to create water tubes to reach inaccessible areas. When you've collected all of the crystals, you've completed the Air Castle area.

Return to the statue room and use the earth circle to repair the statue. Climb up the statue's staff. then climb around its waist to reach the rocky wall behind it. Climb up the wall to reach the top and find the lift button to allow Faith and Mihoko to join you.

From the golem lab, return to the statue room and then out near the docks; you'll find the lift to return to the top of the island. Head to the right, negotiating the rocky path to reach a secluded area with the golem lying on the ground. You can take the heartplug from there.

Return to the lift and head in the other direction. Use the earth circle on the ground to raise pillars leading up to the area where the mandrake root can be found. To reach it, you must jump across the pillars within the time limit. Return to Faith in the golem lab.

When the floating castle lowers, head to the main door: Faith will automatically open it for you. Inside, take the lift up to the next floor. You'll face off against Brice, the gun-toting bad guy you defeated earlier in the game. Mihoko, Faith and the golem are all with you, and Mihoko and the golem will help fight.

On the next floor is Farrant, another formerly living henchman of Jabez, back for revenge. Farrant uses hand-to-hand attacks and will power himself up to take a run at you. This is his most damaging attack, so try to avoid it or counter it with your own running Y button attacks.

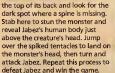

On the next floor, Jabez's final reanimated crony, Darvil, will challenge you. Darvil is a grappler, and despite his big talk, he's the easiest of the trio to defeat. Just stay out of his grab range and swing away with your sword to drop the bulky but brainless bad quy. After he's defeated, take the key from the ground and head through the door. Choose which girl to save from Jabez by running to her. This decision only affects the endina cutscene.

Finally, the epic last battle against Jabez. It's very similar to all of the other battles you've fought against oversized monsters during the game. Climb to high ground (the rough rock wall along one side of the area leads to a nice ledge at just the right height) and jump onto the Jabez beast. Climb up to

tional information about the Private Actions and inventions. Unfortunately, there isn't enough space in this issue for a complete inventions list, so you'll have to wait another month for full details...not to mention the data I've been compiling on the secret dungeons, Battle Trophies and Gemity recreational activities.

We'll try to squeeze as much as we can into next month's issue. The optional activities take even longer than the main story in this game!

PRIVATE ACTIONS

Private Actions (or PAs) are optional events that trigger depending on a number of factors, like the selection of characters in your party or the time you speak to a specific NPC. The choices you make during PAs influence which character appears with Fayt during his epilogue after the end credits. To the right is a flowchart indicating which choices you should make during specific PAs in order to maximize your chances of viewing all of Fayt's possible epilogues. After you complete the PAs on this flowchart, you also need to use a certain number of love potions on each character. For this flowchart to work, you must ONLY trigger the PAs indicated. On the following pages, I've included a list of all the possible PAs; the ones listed in the flowchart are identified with colored squares. PAs from the first section of the flowchart are marked with red squares. After the split, the PAs under Branch 1 are identified with blue squares, and the PAs under Branch 2 are marked green. Sometimes the same PA is mentioned in both branches, but the choices you must make are different, so refer back to the flowchart as you go through the list.

Note: Some PAs are also parts of the main storyline cinema, and will trigger by themselves. These don't have any effect on emotions, so they are not listed in the flowchart.

POSSIBLE ENDING EPILOGUES

The main ending of the game remains the same, but the individual epilogue for Fayt varies slightly according to how you manipulate the Private Actions. These all depend on how the other characters feel about him. Fayt's "Solo" epilogue occurs if none of the characters like him. There is also a potential "Couple" epilogue between Fayt and each character, depending on which one he has the most affinity with at the end of the game. However, if you did not let Adray join your party the first time he asked, you'll never see his "Couple" epilogue, no matter how high his emotion levels are at the end of the game. Lastly, there is an individual "Roger" epilogue you can see if you never met Roger at all during the course of the game. Right before fighting Luther again, play around with the love potions to influence the ending outcome. Check the chart below to see how to manipulate the character relationships.

Through item creation, it is possible to make some of the best weapons and accessories in the game. There are eight different invention categories: Cooking, Alchemy, Crafting, Compounding, Smithing, Writing, Engineering and Synthesis. All the playable characters have marginal talent levels in each category, but in order to create the most useful items, you'll need to recruit NPC inventors. Many of these recruits will have talent levels significantly higher than the characters in your party.

During item creation, you can use a total of three inventors on one assembly line. The sum total of the talent levels for these creators (check the talent levels by pressing  $\triangle$  in the development menu) must meet or exceed the rating value of the item you're trying to create, otherwise the attempt is guaranteed to fail. There are some items in the game that increase your chances of success if you have them in your inventory. For example, if you found the Cherubic Bust in the Palmira Plains, you gain an automatic 20% talent boost when you try to create an item through Crafting.

Success Rate Item Chart
Category	Item	Location
Cooking	Keen Kitchen Knife	Gemity, Outfitter store
Alchemy	Alchemist's Stone	Ancient Ruins of Barr
Crafting	Cherubic Bust	Palmira Plains
Compounding	Multi-Flask	Arias, treasure chest outside
Smithing	Smithy Hammer	Arkives, Flad's house (upstairs)
Writing	Enchanted Pen	Shrine of Kaddan (Disintegrate east wall of hallway with black-and-white spikes)
Engineering	NC Program Disk	Moonbase

After you select the inventor(s) you want to use and choose a category, you're able to choose between "Original Creation" and "Specify Plan," When you select Original Creation, the cost shown affects the item you attempt to create. If you want to change the cost, simply choose Original Creation again and it will randomly change to a different number. Specify Plan means you want to refine an item that's already in your inventory, in order to increase its strength or to remove negative attributes. For example, if you choose Specify Plan and refine your Boots of Prowess (+5% Attack/Defense), you can maximize the attribute associated with it to +30% Attack/Defense. When you're ready to start the creation process, press and two bars will start to move across the screen, a quality bar and a time bar. Whenever the time bar completes one leg, the faces of the creators in your assembly line will make one of three faces: happy, depressed or asleep. When the faces are happy, it means they successfully created an item. If you continue to let the time bar run afterward, they'll add an additional factor to the item (if it has more than one) or make multiple copies of the same item. If you want them to stop, just press  $\times$  and choose to submit the item.

There are several other things you need to consider when inventing. Many of the NPC inventors have time and cost modifiers. This can sometimes change the cost of the item you're trying to create. Let's say you want to craft an item that has a cost of 100. If you use Stanice (Cost -20%), Balbados (Cost +S0%) and Aqua&Evia (Cost +10%) you need to add the modifiers to the original cost: 100 (-20% + 50%

+ 10%) = 140. Also, if you speak to the NPCs while inside the workshops, they'll make comments to let you know how they feel about the facilities. This may have an effect on the quality of their work. Notably, blacksmiths prefer to work in Kirsla, and alchemists perform better in Aquios.

Inventors

Welch Vineyard makes periodic announcements over your Compact Communicator. The most important one is "Entry," which indicates a selection of new NPC inventors available for requitment. Although it is possible to speak to the NPC inventors at any time, you can only recruit them after they have been announced. There is one secret inventor, Izak, who is never officially announced. Refer to the Private Actions section of this guide for further information. The first chart shows the cost/time modifiers for the characters in your party, while the more detailed

There are hundreds of potential inventions to make, and not all of them are useful. Some of the more silly ones include "Repulsive Lump" and "Humiliating Earring." However, there are some incredibly valuable items you can invent later on in the game, as long as you've got the money and inventors with high talent levels. I've listed a few of the more useful items in the game, some of which you'll probably want to make several times. Also, if you check the "Invention Info" on your main menu and look at the list of inventions, the default cost for inventing an item is always 10% of its price. When using "Synthesis" to attach different factors to your weapons, you can add a maximum of eight. "Cost" refers to DEFAULT item cost without any of the inventor's modifications. "Line" indicates which inventors you need to include for that particular item, although you'll want to add on others in some cases to pad out the talent levels. Even if you don't visit any workshops, the inventors will start to create various items on their own. If you did not recruit them, however, you'll be paying a higher price at the stores than if you'd managed to file a patent.

Note: You MUST include Eliza and/or Peppita as part of your assembly line. Save your game beforehand. You must try this over and over again until you succeed, and it's likely you'll fail a LOT before making it. It took me 36 tries before it succeeded. Sometimes it helps to change the order of the inventors on the assembly line—and if you talk to the inventors, you can figure out if they like the workshop they're in. Try using the workshops in Aquios or Kirsia, since Alchemists seem to like those better. It's much easier to make this after you recruit Ansala; unfortunately, it's the item you need to use to recruit Ansala. Pure evil, I tell you.

Synthesis

Synthesis is different from all the other categories in that it refers not to item creation or refinement, but to affixing different factors to your weapons, such as the ability to absorb fire damage, increase attack power, or grant immunity to various status ailments. Only the playable characters can synthesize weapons, and the attempt will only fail if you run out of money.

Well. I've run out of space again. Come back next month and I'll try to wrap up this strategy guide once and for all.

We've had some hands-on play time with the latest in the Tony Hawk series, and we are hooked! In THUG 2, you can to switch between your own fully customizable skater and a pro teammate, each with his or her own specific goal list and unique challenges. A "special guest" character and a "secret" character are also hiding in each stage; after locating and unlocking them, you can take control of them and attempt to complete for the other skaters on your team. Not all goals are completely skateboard-oriented; you may need to transport a hospital patient to meet Tony in one stage, or pelt citizens with tomatoes in another. You can also trigger events (like the L.A. "earthquake" in Tony Hawk's Pro Skater 3) which will modify the terrain and lead to hidden areas or new obstacles. If you didn't care for the linear storyline of last year's Underground game, there's a "Classic" mode with timed skating sessions and old-school THPS goals like collecting S-K-A-T-E, achieving a certain score and even collecting each stage's secret tape. We've seen some pretty funny and interesting things in the

Oddworld. The Stranger is a bounty hunter with lion-like features who tracks down outlaws for his payday. This is a much more action-oriented game than the previous, puzzle-based Oddworld chapters. The gameplay switches between a third-person perspective (for platformstyle action) and a first-person view (when the Stranger equips a weapon). Keeping with the peculiar Oddworld theme of the food-chain hierarchy, the bullets that the Stranger uses are actually live animals which can be shot at enemies for different effects!

RESIDENT EVIL: OUTBREAK FILE #2

Publisher: Capcom

There's nothing like good, old-fashioned zombie-slicing to unwind after a tough day at the office, especially with some equally zombie-phobic friends watching your back. Resident Evil's signature style may be less intellectual than the soul-searching, psyche-warping titles of recent memory, but it has become the equivalent of survival-horror comfort food. Resident Evil: Outbreak File #2 continues the story of eight regular citizens stupid enough to live in Raccoon City: Population 8 and going down fast. Single-player mode lets you play with two computercontrolled characters as a support team, and online multiplayer supports up to four players. New environments, enemies, puzzles and unlockables flesh out the unique "group horror" experience of the original Outbreak.

RESIDENT EVIL 4

UPDATE!

Publisher: Capcom

In Stores: February 2005

Resident Evil 4 has hit a little bit of a snag and will miss this holiday season, but GameCube owners will still be lining up in droves when the game hits early next year. This is a Resident Evil game unlike any of the other ones you've played before; it focuses on pure action with enemies. Leon Kennedy is back, six years after his stint as a Raccoon City cop in Resident Evil 2. Now a topsecret U.S. agent, his job is to find the President's daughter, Ashley. Once Ashlev is rescued. Leon and Ashlev must work together as a team. Most of what we've seen takes place in a desolate European farming village, but there's also a battle against torch-welding zombie

his entire body. (The base principle of alchemy is that you can only gain if you offer an equivalent sacrifice.) Only by also sacrificing his right arm was Edward able to transmute Al's soul and bind it to a nearby suit of armor. From this serious beginning springs forth an action role-playing game that plays for laughs more than anything else. The graphics are drawn with a decidedly anime flavor, with highly emotive facial expressions, fluid body movements and hectic Street Fighter-style combat.

FACTORY SEALED

Has the whole world gone crazy, or is it true that people are spending over $400 for a copy of a dirt-common video game like The Legend of Zelda, just because it's "factory sealed?" My eyes practically bugged out of my head when I read about this in your Collector's Closet column. Don't these people know that it's possible to reseal games?

—Justin Krzus Baltimore, MD

It is crazy, but if you look closely at online auctions, you'll find that a seller will not get a premium price for a sealed game unless he or she provides very high quality photos that clearly show evidence of an original factory seal

The comic book and trading card collectible industries have been revolutionized by the acceptance of trustworthy "grading" services, third-party experts who evaluate the condition of an collectible and enclose it in a protective seal with a numerical quality rating and specific comments about blemishes and/or reconstructive work that may have been performed on the item.

Graded items often command premium prices in online auctions, because the buyer can be confident that the seller is giving an accurate description of the item's condition.

Most professionally-graded collectibles are permanently sealed, never to be enjoyed (or even touched!) again, so it's a good thing for players that there is no professional video-game grading service that we know of...yet. Until one appears, the original shrinkwrap is often a buyer's only guarantee that a game is in factory-fresh, mint condition.

NEW CHEATS

I have a suggestion for your magazine. When you add new cheats to the "tips" sections, you should highlight them so your regular readers don't have to go searching through 3,000 tips to find the ones we need. Just put them in a different color or something so they stand out. Other than that, your magazine is perfect. Thanks!

—Matt McLearn

Shreveport, LA

We hear this request a lot, and we actually have some very good reasons for not doing so. We won't go into them all, but here's the main reason: Tips & TRICKS is competing with several other magazines and hundreds of different websites that offer cheat codes. And after reading our magazine for 10+ years, many of them have figured out that they don't have to bother testing the codes that we print before they copy thembecause of our rigorous testing and careful documentation, they know that our codes always work. If we were to call their attention to our hottest cheats, we'd just be making it easier for people to rip us off more quickly. It's really upsetting to spend days testing and documenting exclusive cheat codes that we've discovered ourselves, only to have one of our subscribers post them on a website (usually without even being kind enough to give us credit for the discovery) days before the magazine has been fully distributed to the newsstands. We have slowly come to accept the fact that we can't stop this from happening, but we do try to slow down the process. The way it's set up now, it only takes seconds for you to look and see if we have cheat codes for a specific game that you're having trouble with...but wholesale thievery of our exclusive cheats is going to require a bit of effort.

Having said that, we are considering a minor change to the Tips pages within the next few months; watch for it.

I just wanted to tell you how much I enjoyed Charlotte's interviews with Isilent Hill producer] Akira Yamaoka and the three Final Fantasy staff members in your August issue. I usually don't expect much more than tips (and, of course, tricks) from your magazine, so these interviews were a pleasant surprise.

Thanks for bringing them up, Fred; we are definitely trying to spread the word that there's more to Tirs & Tricks than just codes and strategy guides. Check out our interview with Dragon Ball Z: Budokai producer Daisuke Uchiyama on page 73 of this very issue.

➡ We showed an early prototype version of Nintendo's new handheld system, the Nintendo DS, in our July issue. Nintendo has since revealed the final model and has settled on an official name: It will still be called the Nintendo DS. As you can see, the logo for the DS features two screens on top of one another, representing the dual screen capabilities of the new handheld. The redesigned model certainly looks much sleeker than the somewhat bulky prototype we saw in May. It also looks like the Nintendo DS will have stereo speakers, unlike the mono speaker on the prototype. We hope that Nintendo also put in fough screen surfaces so they can't be easily scratched by the stylus pen. Nintendo still plans to release the DS by the end of the year in both the U.S. and lapan. We also suspect that there may be several color choices available at launch.

Each intec wireless controller comes with rubber handgrips, a Turbo button for auto-firing and a nifty carrying bag. The Lazer Wireless Controllers for PS2 and GameCube are available at most major retailers for $29,99 each, while the Xbox controller costs $34,99.

If you're still using the older model of Datel's Action Replay game enhancer to cheat on your PlayStation 2, it's time to upgrade to the new Action Replay Max EVD Edition (M.S.R.R; $39.99), This latest model comes pre-loaded with 50,000 codes and a "Max Drive," a 16 MB USB flash drive which makes it easier than ever to transfer code updates from your PC to your PS2. Also included: the "Max Media Player," a utility that allows you to create PS2-compatible CDs on your PC. Additional Max Drives are available for $29.99.

If you have small hands but still want to enjoy the wonders of wireless gaming, then check out intec's Mini Wireless Controllers for the P52 and Xbox. Both controllers are smaller in scale, but have all the trimmings of a regular controller and more. The

VE AND FIGHT BY PHONE

In-Fusio has powered up some challenging single-player phone games, both of which are already available for Sprint and Verizon gamers. Shado Fighter is, as you would expect, a fighting game that features nine characters with which to battle, each with a respective "home arena." Combat offers 12 special moves that can be dished out. Though the publisher states that the controls are easy to learn, there's a Training Mode for practice before taking on Story Mode, which is a fight "through until the ultimate meeting against Boss Shado, Survival Mode throws eight fighters at you that all must be beaten, with 128 total fights necessary to win; in Time Attack Mode, eight combatants must be defeated in as short a time possible. Four difficulty levels and game-speed settings enable players to ramp up the challenge.

Shifting gears (pun intended), IF Racing Head 2 Head features car racing on 16 different tracks all around the world. The contests offer up to 19 other racers, and the car's engine, brakes, suspension and other elements can be tuned before races to maximize your performance. While the game doesn't support direct head-to-head challenges,

Mode enables racing against a ghost car that replicates the player's own best performance, and the best ghost-car laps can also be sent to other players for them to try to beat. A network leaderboard will track the best of the best.

N-GAGE GETS IN (SECOND) GEAR

OK, so Nokia's N-Gage wasn't the hit that many expected it to be when it was released last year. There were numerous errors in the device's design, the price was too high for the "tweens" to twenty-somethings Nokia seemed to be targeting and there wasn't a great selection of games for what the company calls a "game deck" either. The Finnish phone maker seems to have listened to the masses, and is going at the market again with a redesigned product called N-Gage QD. It's still a combination phone/handheld game system, but with some polish and function that improve over its predecessor. I'm not sure what QD stands for, but it's as good a guess as any that it's Finnish for "let's try again...and do it right this time." Compared to the original, there are a few immediate changes that are important to note. First, you no longer need to pull off the back cover and lift out the battery to switch game cards. With the QD, there's now a slot right on the bottom that enables quick switching of games-and being that they're "hot swappable," the OD doesn't need to be powered down for games to be changed. Also, as a phone, the QD is a bit less awkward and passes the "date test." (If the phone rang on a date, would you be too embarrassed by it to answer it?) To use the first N-Gage as a phone, it looked as if the user was holding a paperback book sideways up to his face—an indelicate point that was largely ridiculed. The OD moves the speaker and mic off the lengthwise edge, so there's a more traditional look when you answer the phone, holding the device flatter against your cheek. One of the biggest changes is the price: With some service plans, the QD can be snagged for as low as $100, a full $200 less than the original device. To achieve that pricing. Nokia had to cut out some features included in the first unit: Gone are the MP3 player, FM tuner, stereo sound and tri-band

phone use (so you can't use it outside the U.S.). The result, however, is a more compact package, yet one that hardly feels cheap or fragile. As far as games go, there's a growing catalog that should keep players more entertained. We're also hopeful about some of the forthcoming titles that have been promised, including such familiar names as Call of Duty, Leisure Suit Larry: Pocket Party, SSX, Worms World Party and X-Men Legends. That should get some of the people who held off the first N-Gage to consider adding the QD to their gaming arsenal. In next issue's Gaming 2 Go, we'll go more in-depth with the N-Gage QD and talk more about some of the games that are being worked on as well as some of the recent releases.

Are You Ready for Some Football?

Jamdat Mobile is meeting the football season head on with Jamdat Sports NFL 2005. The title is planned to be available in versions supporting BREW (Binary Runtime Environment for Wireless) and J2ME (Java 2 Platform, Micro Edition) handsets, so it should be playable on many current-generation phones.

The first thing you notice when you start playing NFL 2005 is how much its makers have molded it in the image of a console game. Many of the basic actions-such as hiking, passing to the primary receiver, etc.-are triggered with the 5 key, and movement is intuitive using the number pad. Also, receivers are coded to specific keys (displayed at the bottom and aligning with the player "column" on the screen), so you can quickly assess the situation and, with one button press, toss it to the receiver you choose.

Jamdat has also adopted a color-coding system to make it easier to see how the play is progressing and how certain players are faring. After the snap, if the ring around the guarterback is green, he's relatively clear of opposing interference...but if it's red, he's being chased around the pocket and is less likely to complete a rushed pass. The color coding also circles a passed ball (showing how likely it is to be caught by the intended receiver) and the ball carrier (indicating whether he's unfettered or about to be dropped to the turf). The game features extensive variety, with a sizable playbook of running, passing, defensive and special formations. On defense, you're given the option to switch between players to better adapt to what will be coming at you. The player count was reduced to accommodate the smaller screen, but a seven-on-seven structure doesn't lessen the gameplay. only the clutter that likely would have been an issue.

One of the best features is also one of the most subtle. If you're playing a game and have to stop to answer a call (phone or nature) or for some other reason, the game status is saved after the last completed play. Thankfully, all your progress isn't scrapped. Jamdat claims that, as a phone-based game, it may not be possible to play a full game uninterrupted, and the design makes NFL 2005 something you can play for a few minutes at a time if you choose—or need to. NFL 2005 is expected to be available by the start of the real-life season, with pricing currently up to each carrier.

Another mobile-game publisher is shooting to hit the line with a football title and will be backed by a prominent media name. Sorrent has teamed with Fox Sports Interactive Media for Fox Sports Football '05, which is designed to promises such features as a playbook with over 100 plays, dozens of offensive and defensive formations, a flaming smoke trail on the ball carrier to "give an extra jolt," stat-tracking leaderboards to show off the best players' accomplishments and changing weather conditions. Fox Sports Football '05 is scheduled for release before the football season starts, and will be available in BREW and J2ME versions.

Phone makers are trying to keep up with the increasing needs of their customers who want to do more with their phones than make and get calls. For instance, Samsung recently announced the SCH-V450, which it calls a "3-D game phone." The phone will offer three built-in games-including a golf game and shooter-and comes equipped with a joystick on an extended keypad to make control easier than traditional handsets. Other features include dual speakers, a camera, an MP3 player and Memory Stick compatibility (it will include a 32 MB Memory Stick in the box). Samsung says that the users will also be able to get games specially designed for the phone at its Samsung Fun Club website (www.samsungmobile.com). Before you call your phone company to order one, you should know that the V450 is targeted only for the Korean market. However, Samsung reportedly has a GSM version called the SGH-X910 that will be compatible with some U.S. service providers, and it's expected to be available before the end of the year. The V450 announcement didn't reveal what the phone will cost when it's released.

Meanwhile, Sony Ericsson announced that the K500 series of phones will come equipped with a sample level of the mobile version of Tom Clancy's Splinter Cell: Pandora Tomorrow. Of course, Sony Ericsson and GameLoft, the Ubi Soft spinoff company that

full game.

The KS00 uses Java 2.0 and the Mascot Capsule Micro3D Engine software renderer to display 3-D graphics and powerful games, and has 12 MB of built-in memory, which Sony Ericsson claims can store "up to 170 2-D games or 45 3-D games." It offers a "MultiAction" joystick for improved game control, as well as a still/video camera and MP3 player. As with Samsung's phone announcement, the carriers' networks that it will be compatible wasn't disclosed, though it's expected to be available in the third guarter.

I. Robot Cheat Code

Phone-game makers are putting codes into their titles also. If you picked up Mobile Scope's I, Robot game after the release of the Will Smith movie, you can break it open to play any level. At the main menu, enter 2, 8, 6, 8, 7 to unlock all the levels and minigames. You'll also be able to choose to play them in any order.

BurgerTime Cooks With Java

Hudson, well known for its durable Bomberman and Adventure Island video-game series, is making a big push into the mobile arena. One of its latest developments is a IZME version of the classic 1982 crade game, Burger-Time. Hudson gave Tins & Tricks an early look at the work-inprogress, which is slated to be

Start 1 Player

Start 2 Player

The game's Pac-Man-styled premise involves moving the chef, Peter Pepper, around a series of platforms and ladders. His mission is to build hamburgers by strolling across the ingredients, which drops them into place on the bun. Certainly, it wouldn't be a challenge if there weren't some adversaries, so throw in

Mr. Egg, Mr. Hot Dog and Mr. Pickle (I swear, I'm not making this up) to try to foil Peter's culinary creations. Peter has two ways to counteract them: toss his limited supply of pepper to temporarily stop them in their tracks, or drop a burger layer on them for bonus points. According to some reviews, the previously released BREW version of Burger-Time had some problems that hindered it. For instance, it was reportedly difficul

int. For instance, it was reportedly difficult to navigate the chef on and off ladders because he had to be perfectly aligned—something that's already hard enough on a phone, which usually features player-frustrating controls anyway. This new J2ME take on the game attempts to improve on that flaw, with transitions between platform and ladder being much more forgiving.

Other small details offer major consideration for the player—or players, because it supports two people switching turns. Music is also an option that can be changed in a settings screen and, though it might cost the phone's battery, the game keeps the screen backlight on so you don't find yourself trying to navigate through the crowded kitchen in the dark. Though the game can't be saved in mid-level, it does save your progress and enables you to continue from the start of a level. There's also a pause/resume feature to break up a session on a short-term basis. Another built-in settling offers gameplay in English, French and Spanish. Nothing beats a good old joystick, but Burgerime looks like it'll be a more than adequate diversion for the gamer on the run.

MOBILE GAMING NEWS

 Women Enjoy It More, But More Men Pay For It-A recent polling by research firm Yankee Group called "U.S. Mobile Entertainment Survey" found that 5B% of U.S. mobile-game players are women, but it also revealed that more men-29% to 17% of women-are paying for mobile games. The researcher also found that "pre-installed games on the phone and the price of additional games are the principal reasons [mobile-phone users] do not download additional games." As for recommendations to the industry, Yankee Group's Mike Goodman indicated that mobile games represent the "best opportunity for changing consumers' perceptions of mobile devices as communication and productivity tools;" that pre-installed games and mobile handsets' "short lifespan" limit users from downloading games and that mobile games need to be "more robust, with limited features in pre-installed versions," taking advantage of wireless connectivity to separate themselves from traditional video-game offerings.

Apple Plays Right Tune for Motorola—Apple Computer signed a deal to create a custom version of its Tlunes music-player software that will run on mobile devices made by Motorola. These "music phones" are scheduled to be available before July 2005. Apple, which already has taken the lead in sales of online music, hopes to supplement that business by selling music to the approximately 1.5 billion people who are expected to be mobile-phone subscribers by the end of this year.

 Bigger and Smaller...At the Same Time—Apple's iPod and other similar music players have driven a growing market for tiny hard drives. This summer, Seagate Technology announced a super-small ST1

1-inch hard drive that comes with amazing storage capacities in 2.5GB and $5GB sizes. One of the first customers will be Creative Labs, which will not it in 5-fitting contable more which will use it in a future portable music player, but at that size and capacity, it surely won't be long before the drives make their way into phones and other mobile devices that will combine communication and data storage. And, of course, those elements in combination with a decent processor will make for a great portable game system.

 providers are fighting to offer high-speed broadband for consumers and businesses, mobile carriers are starting to put together wireless broadband service in a growing number of cities.

AT&T Wireless, in partnership with Japanese mobile provider NTT DoCOMo, has started offering UMTS (Universal Mobile Telecommunications System) service in Detroit, Phoenix, San Francisco and Seattle, with plans to expand to Dallas and San Diego before the end of the year. AT&T's service—which requires a $25/month unlimited data account and "an eligible voice rate plan"—provides speeds of 220-330 kilobits per second (with bursts up to 3B4 kbps, which is similar to low-end DSL service) through specific cell phones or a special UMTS modem.

Meanwhile, Verizon Wireless has rolled out its BroadbandAccess service in Las Vegas, San Diego, Washington D.C., with plans to offer the service in major U.S. cities by the end of 2005. BroadbandAccess carries data at speeds of 300–500 kbps, with bursts up to 2 mbps, but also costs about $B0/month and requires the use of a data-only PC card from Verizon. The company expects to offer the service to smartphones in last 2004 or early 2005. No word on whether the service can be hooked up to a broadband-capable console like the PlayStation 2 or Xbox.

• Yahoo! in the Picture?—Online portal Yahoo! has added to its photo service by providing camera-phone users who have a free Yahoo! Photos account with a place they can upload the images they capture. Once captured, an image is e-mailed to a custom @photos.yahoo.com address, and the picture becomes part of the Mobile Upload section, which offers unlimited storage of camera-phone shots. At present, the service is free, though Yahoo! notes that it's offered without charge "for a limited time."

We recently sat down and spoke with Daisuke Uchiyama, producer of the Dragon Ball Z: Budokai series. Mr. Uchivama has also worked on Dragon Ball games for the PS one. including Dragon Ball Z: Ultimate Battle 22 and Dragon Ball GT: Final Bout. He is also the producer of Bandai's .hack series.

He believes that the upcoming game, Dragon Ball Z: Budokai 3, is the culmination of ten years of working on Dragon Ball games and is by far his best work. He took us through some of the new features and told us what we should expect in Dragon Ball Z: Budokai 3.

O: Both the Dragon Ball games and TV series have taken off here in the U.S. and the fan base still seems to be growing. Is this sudden surge in popularity surprising to you? A: The Dragon Ball series is pretty old in Japan; the first TV show aired back in 1984.

The series went on for 11 years and has since stopped being produced since 1995. However, the Dragon Ball series is still extremely popular with Japanese kids even today. When the show launched in the U.S., I watched from afar to see if the Dragon Ball series will be accepted in the U.S. To my surprise, the popularity of Dragon Ball in the U.S. far exceeded any of my expectations. I had the chance to come to the U.S. and speak with Dragon Ball fans after the first Budokai game was released. I couldn't believe there were U.S. fans that knew much more about the characters than I did! When I asked them for suggestions on Budokai 2, I realized that U.S. fans were much more passionate about the Dragon Ball universe than Japanese kids. With Budokai 3, I'm definitely focusing on the U.S. audience.

Q: How is Dragon Ball Z: Budokai 3 different from the previous Budokai games?

A: With the first Budokai game, I just wanted to establish that there is a DBZ fighting game for the PS2. With Budokai 2, I wanted to bring the game closer to the look and feel of the show. With Budokai 3, not

Q: What are some of the new features you have included in the fighting system?

A: First of all, the fighting speed is a lot faster. We've also included a new evading system

tacked—kind of a "teleportation counter." It gives it a more

Dragon Ball-like

feel and adds a whole new dimension to the fighting system. You can even volley your opponent back and forth. It's a really a simple system once you learn it. The game may look a lot faster, but it makes a lot of sense once you actually play it. We had two young kids come in and play the game and they picked up the countering system in five minutes. It's easy to play, but the game looks flashy and fast so a lot of older people say, "Wow! Kids these days are really good!"

Q: Any new power-up features like

Super Saivan mode? A: Yes, we have a new Hyper Mode where the character goes into "Berserker" mode and can trigger a special attack. The characters will go into the air and button icons will appear so the opponent can counter the action. Previously, Dragon Ball fighting games mostly showed the action from the side, but with the new Hyper Mode we can see additional action from new vantage points. This actually takes quite a lot of processing power from a technological standpoint and we are very proud of this feature-we call it the "Saivan Overdrive System!"

Q: In Budokai 3, it looks like you've stayed with the "cel-shaded" style of Budokai 2 when representing each character.

A: Yes, in the first Budokai game we modeled each character in full polygon style. They looked like shiny-faced dolls! With Budokai 2 we used the cel-shade style not only to create better expressions for each character but to also let the fans know that this a new game with a new look. Budokai 3 may look similar to Budokai 2, but we want fans to feel the difference once they pick up the controller. Of course, even though the characters are still celshaded, we've added even more detail. For example, we really paid attention to the difference in size for each character. Broly and Cooler are absolutely massive in this game!

Q: Are there more characters this time around?

A: There are quite a few more characters in this game. The two characters I mentioned earlier, Broly and Cooler, are from the Dragon Ball movie in Japan. Of course, you can choose all the same characters from Budokai 2 as well. We've also included characters from the GT series, which I hear is extremely popular in the U.S. There is also a character called Gogeta, a fusion of Goku and Vegeta from the Dragon Ball movie. All in all there are 40 characters in the game! Each one has their own special moves and movements. We guarantee that we have every character covered, so hopefully I won't be getting any more complaints about missing someone's favorite character!

O: Anything new for the single-player

A: In Budokai 2 we had the "Dragon World" mode; this time we are calling the singleplayer mode "Dragon Universe," Goku can now fly around in the world map from place to place. Dragon Ball fans kept telling us they wanted to fly, so we put it in! We eliminated the Skill Cards system and now the player can fully customize each character, skill by skill. The character's data can now be saved as a password so your friends can use the same password and play with your character. We're planning to have players put their character passwords online so people all over the world can enjoy it. Plus, if you have memory saves from the previous two games, you can transfer your capsules and skill cards to Budokai 3.

O: So what makes the Budokai series stand apart from other fighting games?

A: With Dragon Ball characters, we are able to do things that you normally wouldn't be able to do in other fighting games. The teleportation counter system, aerial skills, projectiles and Hyper mode are all unique to Dragon Ball characters, so we took full advantage of those things. We put so many extra touches in this game for Dragon Ball fans that we think kids are going to walk into stores and say, "Mom! I want THAT for Christmas!" We also made sure that the game is easy for beginners, even if they've never played Budokai 1 or 2. I really believe that Dragon Ball Z: Budokai 3 is going to be the ultimate DBZ game for fans all over the world!

NCY: WORST ENEMY OR BEST FRIEND?

If you've been playing online games for a while, you've met our good friend Mr. Latency; he's the mysterious gremlin who causes the slight delay between the press of a button on your controller and the corresponding action on your TV screen in an online game. Regardless of what some people think, a delay of even a millisecond can cause a complete change in gameplay. In this installment of Online Gamer, I'll be taking a closer look at this troublesome little jerk-and you may even learn a few tricks that can turn him into a valuable ally.

Back in the days of the XBAND video-game modem for the Super NES and Sega Genesis, pioneering online gamers were amazed at the perfect connections and practically non-existent latency issues in playing games like Super Street Fighter II and

Mortal Kombat II against opponents from across the country. The secret behind XBAND's silky play was peer-to-peer connection; one player's modem would dial the other directly through an existing phone line. There were no routers, networks or wireless adapters for the data to pass through, so the resulting gameplay experience was smooth, fast and surprisingly error-free. After the XBAND service dissolved, the Sega Saturn kept the dream alive with peer-topeer connections available via the Netlink Modem, but this service quickly fizzled due to a lack of support. Online gaming was ready for the world, but the world wasn't ready for online gaming. Years passed with no existing online console service, until the pioneers at Sega tested the waters once again. Their Dreamcast system had the ability to play online with a built-in S6K modem, and they even offered a Broadband Adapter, though the latter was only compatible with a select few Dreamcast titles. With videogame technology having advanced from 16-bit to 12B-bit systems in the intervening years, games like NFL 2K1 should have been the ultimate in lag-free online gaming, making us forget that XBAND ever existed. Instead, the slow, choppy gameplay of most Dreamcast online experiences was a prelude of what was to come for many players on the Xbox and PS2.

One of the biggest problems with online games today is that most of your opponents' Internet connections are shared with their personal computers. You can choose to play against a guy with an acceptable "ping" rating, but there's no guarantee that his little brother won't start surfing the 'net when you're down by three points in the fourth quarter. Another reason for continuing latency problems is the fact that there's a lot more data passing back and forth between your console and your opponents'. Once a connection was established through XBAND, the only information that needed to be transmitted was the buttons you pressed. Today's online games must also communicate "chat" messages, digitized speech and lots of non-essential data (like a complete list of the games that are currently being played by all the people on your Xbox Live

Because of the wide variety of connection types and player set-ups, latency is here to stay. You can whine about it or simply accept it as a fact of life-and if you're really devious, you can even exploit the lag by using it to your advantage in certain games. The following techniques are sure to get your opponent whining, crying and probably flinging the controller across the room. If you expect to play a useful role on your SOCOM team while simultaneously downloading MP3s from Kazaa, then this is the kind of treatment you'll get (and probably deserve)....

Capcom vs. SNK 2: EO (Xbox)

There is no other game that differs as greatly from online to offline play as Capcom vs. SNK 2: EO. For starters, because this is a fighting game, more precision is needed to properly perform special moves and complex button combination attacks that require EXACT timing. Since latency fluctuates throughout any online game, you may not have a stable connection at times, which can make any online fighting game VERY difficult. If you want to win in Cv52: EO, you'll need to exploit "lag tactics" just like 90% of the people who play this game on Xbox Live. Most offline players can normally block Ken's Ryusenkyaku overhead kick by simply reacting to it, but this same move is extremely difficult to block when playing online because you need to anticipate it. Kyo's R.E.D. Kick, Rugal's Dark Smash and Maki's Hayagake are other examples of special moves that are enhanced due to the lag. With reaction time slowed, gameplay becomes more of a chess match, with players trying to "guess" what their opponent is doing. Because of this, grooves that allow rolling (C, A, and N) are easily abused, with players performing what is known as RATing (roll and throwing). If a guy rolls at you when playing offline, you can grab him during the brief period of invincibility at the very beginning of the rolling animation and throw him with relative ease; you can also counter his attack at the end of the roll. With any bit of online latency, though, doing either of these things requires split-second timing which is nearly impossible on Xbox Live unless you are playing locally. Players who RAT and wildly press buttons are affectionately known as "rolly scrubby." Unfortunately, the game does not punish players who "pull" (disconnect their network cable or simply switch off their Xbox) before the end of a match. Pity.

NBA Ballers (PS2)

Enjoy playing against Predrag Stoiakovic? Then fire up your PS2 and head for an online game; I guarantee that someone will be using him and shooting unblockable threes due to the lag. Once he's on fire, he's nearly unstoppable; your only options are to play as someone like Kobe Bryant who can withstand a few fouls...or Larry Bird, who never misses. If your opponent becomes savvy to this, simply start walking up and down the court vertically and take a shot within 15 feet of the basket. It's a chore to try to steal the ball from players who abuse this technique.

Guilty Gear X2 #Reload (Xbox)

A gorgeous game with a great price ($19.99): unfortunately, because of all of the complex motions and spastic movements required, it becomes nearly unplayable at any given time compared to offline play. Let me put this in perspective for players who have experience with Capcom vs. SNK 2: EO latency. Playing Guilty Gear X2 #Reload against a local opponent is similar to playing someone on the other side of the country in CvS2. Playing someone on the other of the country feels like playing someone overseas in

Cv52. Playing someone overseas feels like playing someone on another planet. There's really nothing as pleasant as pressing a button and waiting nearly two seconds for the move to come out, let me tell ya. In order to have any chance of success against online opponents, you'll basically have to forget everything you've ever learned while playing any form of Guilty Gear offline. Treat online play as a whole new game, and rely on using Low Dust as if your life depended on it. With latency, it's harder to block sweeps than it is to block normal moves. Any moves that act as an overhead are exploited, just like Sagat's crouching Fierce Punch in Cv52. Most of the game relies on chaining combos together and using Roman Cancels to continue with combination attacks. If you are extremely skilled, you might be able to get some of your combos to come out by pressing each button twice in succession as opposed to once. For example, to perform a standard Kick, Punch, Slash, Heavy Slash combo, try pressing Kick, Kick, Punch, Punch, Slash, Slash, Heavy Slash, Heavy Slash, mashing the buttons as if you're back in the arcade, playing Track & Field again. Oh, and I would gladly give away free copies of Guilty Gear X2 #Reload to anyone who can consistently pull off Dust Combos in the air when playing online against opponents from Japan. You'll have better luck winning the lottert, to be honest.

NBA 2K3 (Xbox, PS2)

Want to steal wins? Simply get a lead on your opponent and then pause the game. NBA ZK3 doesn't have a time limit on pausing like the newer sports games do. Your opponent will be at your mercy; if he quits, you get the win. If you both remain online and you eventually decide to continue, he's likely to be so angry and rattled that it'll throw off his game. If you actually find a person who will play fair, you can take the advantage by using the Dallas Mavericks (abuse Steve Nash's speed to the hoop and Dirk Nowitski's crazy three-point shooting ability) or the Sacramento Kings, with Chris Webber's inside game and Stojakovic's on-target shooting from outside the arget shooting from outside the farc. If you're feeling really good, pick the Milwaukee Bucks and give the ball to Ray Allen; an infant could shoot 50% from the arc the first time playing with him. Or head on over to the Boston Celtics and give the ball to Paul Pierce and launch it from three-point land as well. Because of the slight button delay, blocking outside shots is quite a challenge, making it a field day for shooters from anywhere on the court. If your opponent becomes wise to your antics, simply choose a speedy guard, get close the basket and press the Shoot button. You'll simply drive right past him for an easy score, or draw a personal foul. You can change your defensive tactics to try to overcome these techniques, but like the old Stockton-to-Malone pick-and-roll, you can only contain it for so long before it works over and over again.

Moto GP Online (Xbox)

Moto GP is known to have game-breaking "glitches," but that still doesn't stop die-hard gamers from playing it daily, long after the release of Moto GP 2. Veteran players will point out that the only way to get into the top 100 Time Trial standings nowadays is to crash at certain key points in the game, then watch as the computer attempts to "catch up" with the lag and boosts you far ahead of where you crashed. There are sections of the track where your blke can fall and you can slide through parts of the track that you're not meant to be on. Certain times in the overall standings are impossible to achieve unless you bypass sections of the track by taking advantage of the poor collision detection and punching through the fencel Considering the fact that Moto GP Online was developed in less than a year, it's not surprising that quirks like this remained in the game.

ESPN College Hoops (PS2/Xbox)

A fairly clean, straightforward basketball game when played of-fline, ESPN College Hoops becomes an unstoppable offensive dunk-fest due to the fact that it is very hard to block ANYTHING online. It struggles even harder than the NBA 2K series of games in terms of latency, because winning relies so heavily on the ability to drive to the hoop and knife through your opponent's defense at will. Blocking shots is also a necessity offine; once an online opponent gets in the paint, you can kiss two points goodbye.

FPS (First-Person Shooter) Latency Tricks

Listed below are a few general observations that should apply to most online first-person shooters, including titles like XIII, the Tom Clancy's games and Unreal Tournament.

In general, the area of effect/attack weapons are easily abused because they are harder to avoid due to lag. Weapons such as rocket launchers that do "splash damage" (i.e. causing damage even when it's not a direct hit) are much harder to avoid online because of slower reaction times.

• "One-hit kill" weapons such as railguns are easily exploited because players with better internet connections can have more accurate shots. A player with a 20ms ping rating is going to have his shot come out almost immediately after pressing the button, whereas another player with 200ms ping is going to have to wait a bit longer for his shot to come out.

 Lag reduces accuracy, and leading targets becomes more of a normal part of gameplay than usual. Instead of trying to actually shoot AT your opponent, you'll be stuck shooting in the general area where you think they'll be a few seconds later. Anticipation becomes a crudal element in order to be effective. More often than not, many players feel that lag is more of a determining factor than skill, and being able to adjust your gameplay to compensate for this is just as important as being able to get an accurate headshot from 100 yards away. Varying degrees in skill level aside, the person with the lower ping will usually have the upper hand. However, sometimes there are circumstances that are beyond your control, and you'll need to just avoid certain situations at all costs. For example, in Tom Clancy's Ghost Recon, most "dirty" players will wait for you to respond (warp) to a certain area in the game, then blow you away as soon as you appear. In situations like this, it's best to stick to playing with people who you know and can trust, don't leave yourself vulnerable to the rampant cheating that's bound to happen to you at one time or another.

If you've ever stayed up all nighteven though you had an exam to study for, a 50-page term paper to write, a starving goldfish with one fin in the sky and a hundred sundry other responsibilities (like eating or bathing) that you shirked-because you were mesmerized by the glory of a Final Fantasy game, this monthly column is for you!

FINAL FANTASY XI Media Tour (Part 3)

In its ongoing demonstrations of Final Fantasy XI to members of the press, Square Enix hosted a third online media tour to demonstrate two new features in the game: Ballista and Holy Matrimony, Yes, it's now possible for two citizens of Vana'diel to get married. The tour was divided into two groups, with advanced players on the first day and beginners on the second.

Summons

Prior to the nuptial ceremony, the Square Enix tour guides made several pit stops to allow us to engage in battle with Titan, Fenrir and Behemoth, three familiar summon creatures from previous Final Fantasy epics. You'll need to defeat these monsters if you ever wish to have them join your personal stable of ready-to-order beasts. The summoner class was added to Final Fantasy XI with the release of the game's first expansion pack, "Rise of the Zilart." To reach these creatures, adventurers will need to travel all the way to the Quicksand Caves, which is no easy task; it's a desolate landscape that is only accessible by seasoned players who are capable of crossing vast wastelands. Note that Behemoth is one of the creatures who are known as "Notorious Monsters," a breed of terrifying characters who are so insanely powerful that it is generally considered to be impossible for a single party to bring them down without any assistance. During our Media Tour battle with this gigantic beast, three different parties formed an alliance and worked together to take Behemoth down. It was a dramatic moment of player unity and good will, but the unselfish show of team spirit was later to be dissolved and transformed into brutal competition between the former comrades. The reason? A Ballista battle, for which the different parties quickly reformed into large groups divided by nation.

Ballista

During Ballista games, players are divided into teams based on their nation affiliation. When play starts, the basic goal is to find stones called Petras and throw them into castle-like goals called Rooks to score points. However, you can't score any points with your Petras until you've earned "Gate Breach" status by knocking out one of the players on the other team (or by being near an ally who did). When you have "Gate Breach" status, search for Petras by using the "/quarry" command, and use the "/scout" command to find the nearest Rook. Ballista strategies vary according to character type. At the start of the tour, everyone was given a pre-made character, and mine happened to be a white mage. During Ballista, I used the spell "Invisible" on myself and helped my teammates by casting sleep or paralysis spells on our opponents. Of course, concentrating on healing allies was also important. This was a pretty casual game, so there was no strategic planning beforehand. I'd suggest assigning two-man teams with one fighter and one healer, letting the healer pick up "Gate Breach" status by proxy and score goals, but there are probably a dozen other strategies that are equally effective.

Ballista players try to score in the Rook

Wedding

While we rested our sore muscles from the Ballista bout, we were given crackers and grape juice in anticipation of the wedding ceremony. Prior to the nuptials, there was a huge fireworks display. I asked one of the tour guides how much the wedding cost, and they said it was 100,000 gil. When the event started, they had us sit in two columns, facing inward, so we could observe the bride and groom walking up to the officiator. Their biographies were given, they pledged their virtual lives to each other, and then we all stood up and drank our grape juice in a toast as we set off the crackers we'd been given earlier. Players wishing to wed must be above Level 20 and have characters that are of the opposite sex; they must also find a friend who's willing to act as the chaperone responsible for filling out a request form, setting the wedding date and footing the bill!

FINAL FANTASY FAN

I'm a big fan of the Final Fantasy series, and one thing I've noticed is that in most of the games, there is someone named Cid. Now I can understand that it might just be a common name in those games, but they are all connected with an airship. In Final Fantasy VII, you get Cid and he takes you in his airship. In FFVIII (my favorite besides FFXI), the headmaster of your school (garden) tells you to go to the basement; when you do that and kill all the junk down there, your school starts to levitate so you can fly away from danger. I don't own FFIX (yet), but in FFX and X-2, Cid is Rikku's father and has his own airship that carries you to safety after fiends attack the base. FFXI is different from all the rest, but nonetheless, Cid is the main inventor for Bastok; I think he invented the airship or something like that. So what's with all the Cids?

Also: This isn't really a question, but I was playing Final Fantasy XI one day, walking through the highlands with my friend, and he asked me how many enemies I had fought at once. My answer was four, and his was eight, I decided to try to beat his record. I set out and provoked a sheep, but then I went "afk" (away from keyboard) for some food. When I came back, my character was covered by 15 sheep! I knew they couldn't kill me, because I'm a black mage that's 10 levels higher than them, but I couldn't move.

After taking the enclosed screen shot, I used Stonega and killed them all. I earned no EXP whatsoever, but ended up with 10 sheepskins. If that's not farming, I don't know what is!

-John Hopkins Trov. IL

You're right to assume that Cid is always related to the airships in some way. Even in earlier Final Fantasy games for older systems like the Super NES, the Cid character always wanted to take to the skies. There are some basics in Final Fantasy games that never change, like the use of chocobos for transport and the presence of cheerful moogles to lighten the mood.

Nice screen shot, by the way. It looks like you beat your friend's record! Thanks for writing.

-Charlotte

Mist Walker

The elusive Hironobu Sakaguchi certainly has been making the rounds lately. First, the creator of Final Fantasy made a surprise appearance in front of an international audience viewing the unveiling of Final Fantasy XII last November, and more recently during the "Dear Friends: Music from Final Fantasy" concert conducted this past May, Rumors suggested he had been on an extended sabbatical after the lackluster performance of the movie, Final Fantasy: The Spirits Within. Now the father of the Final Fantasy franchise is branching off into new territory, starting his own development company and getting ready to get back into the game in order to create some new role-playing game masterpieces. Although the new studio, called Mist Walker, will have nothing to do with Final Fantasy, it will be interesting to see the influence that his experience with the Final Fantasy series will have on his new projects. Sakaguchi has made comments previously that he wanted to create true emotion with video games, the way audiences react to other mediums like television or movies.

Are you a video-game packrat? Do you own more video games than you could possibly beat in a whole year, even if you played non-stop? Would you go without food to save up the money to buy a rare TurboGrafx-16 game, an obscure Atari 2600 controller, a limited-edition Game Boy Pocket or a 36 leather Killer Instinct iacket? If so, this monthly collectors' column is for you!

PTOR'/ CUIDE ADVANCE

Much of the raw data you get here in Collector's Closet comes courtesy of Digital Press, an organization which since 1991 has been documenting and tracking the game libraries of every console from the original Odyssey right up to the systems we're playing today. Until now, Digital Press publications focused on the golden age of gaming (8-bit systems). This year it has released Collector's Guide Advance, an encyclopedia and price guide documenting the 16-bit era and beyond. If you are a collector of any video-game hardware or software from 1989 to present, you really can't afford to miss this book, which also contains the first Game Boy and PlayStation rarity listings we've seen anywhere. You can order the book directly through Digital Press at www.digitpress.com.

METEOR BLASTER DX for TurboDuo

MindRec Communications has released a new game for TurboDuo systems (or Turbo-Grafx-CD setups with a Super System Card): Meteor Blaster DX, an Asteroids-inspired shoot-'em-up. The CD also includes two bonus games: Loop and a special competition version of MindRec's previous game, Implode, No more than 500 copies of Meteor Blaster DX are being produced; you can order one online from www.MindRec.com or Turbo Zone Direct (www.tzd.com).

ROOM OF DO

Tom M. of Phoenix. Arizona sent in these photos of his "Room of Doom," which holds 38 game systems and nearly 1,200 games. A fan of fighting games ("mostly Capcom and SNK"), Tom also prizes games with "strange controllers" like Samba de Amigo, Steel Battalion and Donkey Konga.

l invite you to send in your own personal "Room of Doom" photos for display in a future edition of TIPS & TRICKS Collector's Closet. Send two or three photos of your proudlydisplayed games to "Room of Doom," c/o Tips & TRICKS, 8484 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 900, Beverly Hills, CA 90211, and be sure to tell me about the highlights of your collection.

HIMMIN

If you've been watching the reruns on G4 Tech TV, you may be aware that the recent Thunderbirds movie is based on a British TV show that originated in 1965. What you may not know is that the new Game Boy Advance game based on the movie is the sixth Thunderbirds console game (though it's only the second to be released in North America). The imports are well worth playing and collecting, and some of them are very tough to find in the U.S.; here's a checklist for International Rescue fans worldwide

Thunderbirds

System: Famicom Publisher: Pack-in-Video Released September 1989 (Japan)

The original TV show has a huge fan base in Japan, where new Thunderbirds merchandise has been steadily introduced ever since the show premiered. This Famicom (a.k.a. NES) game was a vertically-scrolling shoot-'em-up with decent audio-visual effects.

Thunderbirds

System: Nintendo Entertainment System Publisher: Activision Released October 1990 (U.S.)

Exactly the same as the Famicom title, but with English text. Judging by the completely unrelated box art and the careless translation job (Brains is called "Dr. Brain"), Activision must not have known anything about the TV show and its cult following.

Gerry Anderson's Thunderbirds

System: Game Boy Publisher: B-Al (Bandai)

Released February 1993 (Japan) Possibly the least-known

Thunderbirds title, Although it's a straightforward action game, this cartridge for the original monochrome Game Boy is a bit tough for American gamers to follow, since there's tons of Japanese text to read between levels.

Shyutsudouseiyo!!

System: Super Famicom Publisher: Cobra Team Released September 1993 (Japan)

Another little-known Japanese import, this horizontal shooter presents each rescue mission as a self-contained "episode;" it even includes digitized samples of the announcer's countdown to give players the feel of the original TV show.

System: Game Boy Color Publisher: SCI Released December 2000 (Europe)

Thunderbirds: International Rescue

International Rescue for the Game Boy Advance

plays like an enhanced version of the Game Boy Color cart (both were developed by Pukka Games), with great graphics and plenty of new challenges, including side-scrolling platform levels.

Thunderbirds

System: Game Boy Advance Publisher: Vivendi Universal Released August 2004 (U.S.)

Based on the movie, so fans of the TV show may not like the slightly redesigned vehicles (or the stilted dialogue, e.g. "LET'S GO PENELOPE, WE DO NOT WANT TO BE LATE"). But if you want a complete collection of Thunderbirds games, you need this.

Note: You'll need a special adapter or hardware modification to play the Famicom and Super Famicom Thunderbirds games in the U.S. but the portable games listed above will all play on a standard North American Game Boy Advance or SP. Isn't it strange that there has never been a Thunderbirds game on a non-Nintendo console?

THE LOST THUNDERBIRDS GAME

When SCI released the Game Boy Color Thun derbirds game in 2000, it also announced to the European press that a PlayStation 2 Thunderbirds game was in development. The game was never released, but these early CGI renders sure looked promising

CONTEST WINNER

Do you think you have what it takes to be the winner of the 2004 EA Sports Madden Challenge? Last year, David "Sandman" Seitchick from Buffalo, New York, took home the $50,000 grand prize at the Las Vegas finals after more than 16,000 Madden players battled it out across the nation to determine the champion. This year the tournament is hitting 32 cities across the U.S. Each city will have one winner who will advance to the finals at the Mandalay Bay Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada on December 11th. The 32 finalists will then compete to see who wins SANUMAN the $50,000 grand prize! Who will be this year's registered players doesn't show. The tournaments are held on the weekends, so there's no need for you to skip school or ditch work like John Cusack in Runaway Jury. Sega wasted no time in rolling out the first hockey game on the PS2 and Xbox for the 2004-2005 NHI season, ESPN

NHL 2K5 boasts faster gameplay, smoother control and a brand new fighting engine. Also new is the Full Stick Control which allows the player to trigger a whole slew of new defensive moves with the right analog stick. Suffice it to say that ESPN NHL 2K5 brings in more of the grueling brutality of pro hockey that makes it so popular with fans. The fighting sequences, for example, are much more than just the lame punching and kicking of most hockey games. With the ability to grab, grapple, dodge and even throw combos, it feels like a legitimate fighting game unto itself! The Full Stick Control allows your player to swipe at pucks and throw checks while playing defense, thus adding a much greater physical element to the game. Collectors will be glad to know that the Skybox is back and it's even deeper than before, with tons of stuff to unlock including retro jerseys and new bonus locations. Two new modes in ESPN NHL 2K5 are being introduced this vear: Dream Team Mode and Party Mode. Similar to the celebrity challenges in ESPN NFL 2K5.

Dream Team Mode lets you challenge well-known hockey personalities like Steve Levy, Martin St. Louis, Jeremy Roenick, Gary Thorne and more. Each Dream Team features hand-picked players. Beat the Dream Team and that team becomes unlocked for you to use in any mode. The Party Mode lets you and your buddies take on 15 different hockey-based minigames, including the Free-For-All scoring challenge, the Gauntlet and Figure 8 racing circuits. Team-based games include Pass With Caution and Breakout. The Party Mode can also be played online, giving you more options to school your opponents. If you want to take off the skates and relax, the game also lets you play air hockey, shuffleboard and NHL trivia. All this for a mere $19.99—the new price point for ESPN sports titles! When will other game companies recognize the ingenious marketing strategy of cheap prices for quality products? We're hoping that Sega sets a trend!

IASCAR 2005: Chase for the Cu

NASCAR street racing? NASCAR 2005: Chase for the Cup takes the action outside of the circuit to bring more drama to the series. In "Fight to the Top" mode, you start off as a no-name driver and you have to prove to the world that you're the real deal as you progress through four different racing series. Your career will take you through various racing events including the city the multi-million dollar purse of the NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series. Rivalries are never settled on the circuit alone; bad feelings spill over into the streets as racers battle it out in American muscle cars like the Dodge Viper! How do you make the other drivers mad enough to take it outside? The new Intimidator button function forces other drivers to make mistakes as you put on aggressive maneuvers around the track. All this drama on and off the circuit will get a reaction from the fans. You may be reviled as a NASCAR villain or adored as a fan favorite. The perception by fans can affect your sponsorship opportunities as well as how you're treated by owners. There's even an autograph mini-game after races to keep the fans happy! NASCAR 2005: Chase for the Cup features over 60 drivers and 39 tracks. You can also own paint scheme for your car. A new Skill Point Reward system lets you earn points during a race by performing skillful driving maneuvers like drafting, blocking and passing. You can then use the points to unlock special rewards and bonuses. Chase for the Cup is available for the PS2, Xbox and GameCube, and the PS2 and Xbox versions have online play. This is the best game in the series yet, and it caters to more than just NASCAR fans with additional driving modes and other unique cars. Check it out if you're new to the series.

Live 2005

been a crazy off-season for the NBA with Shag trading in his purple-and-gold for Miami black and T-Mac joining the tower of Yao. But what's even crazier is the new NBA All-Star Weekend mode in the upcoming NBA Live 2005 basketball game from EA Sports. We recently had a chance to check out the Slam Dunk Contest and 3-Point Shootout events in the game. Are you sick and tired of prima donna NBA players blowing off the annual All-Star Slam Dunk Contest? What happened to the days when a player actually defended his dunk title? Now you can have your favorite NBA star demonstrate his own brand of hangtime! The gameplay is very similar to the trick-based style of titles like SSX or Tony Hawk's Pro Skater, where timing, execution and stringing combos together are the keys to success. It takes a lot of practice, and your player will flub dunks and even miss the basket altogether if you don't time it correctly. Former NBA stars like Dr. J and Magic Johnson are the judges; they will hold up score cards to show their approval or displeasure. TNT analysts Frnie Johnson and Kenny "The Jet" Smith give plenty of light-hearted commentary as well as some real dissing stabs at lame dunk attempts. The 3-Point Shootout makes a return to the NBA Live series, but this time it has all the flair and pizzazz of the ball correctly, but you have to also grab the balls off the rack fast enough before time expires. It's all about hitting the money ball! This is just a peek at the features you can expect in NBA Live 2005; we hear there's going to be a whole lot more

a new PS one title, was released in August and is not coming out for the PS2. Complete with 2004 rosters and superb Season and General Manager modes, Gameday 2005 is surprisingly solid. The series' trademark Total Control Passing and Tackling are back. allowing you to control your receivers and change their routes on the fly or become the defensive hero and try to force a fumble at will. Total Control Tackling is actually a bit risky, your opponent will have an ample opportunity to make a break for the end zone if you screw up. High risk equals high reward, however. If your offensive line is not doing the job for you, activating Max Pass Protection might allow you a bit more time to find your receivers. Before the ball is snapped, press the R2 button to force your running backs to abandon their pass routes and remain in the backfield to block for the QB. Having problems winning games in Season Mode? Try creating a player who can make an immediate impact on the field. Unique and special players with the ability to dominate the game are known as "Super Players;" they include some of the best talents from the cream of the NFL crop. It would be mighty scary to have to face an opponent with Peyton Manning's field vision, Michael Vick's speed and Tom Brady's leadership all in one! The play-by-play and color commentary of Dick Enberg and Dan Fouts add to the realism of a series that continues to perform well for PlayStation owners.

Grenade Launcher Trick

(Note: This trick will only work with Jill. Also, it's possible that using this trick will adversely affect the quantities of other items in your inventory, so try this at your own risk.) With the Grenade Launcher and at least one spare set of unequipped grenade shells of any kind in your inventory, equip the Grenade Launcher and find an item box. When you open the item box, immediately select the set of grenade shells in your inventory and place it in the very first slot in the item box. (The first slot of the item box is selected by default when you first open the box-it usually contains the First Aid Spray when you start the game or the Closet Key it you've already cleared the game once.) Now lect the grenade shells occupying the first slot in the item box and combine the shells from the item box directly to your equipped Grenade Launcher. The number of shells displayed under the Grenade Launcher will become corrupted. Now exit the item box; Jill will have 240 shells in her Grenade Launcher when you check her inventory. If you still have unequipped Grenade Launcher ammo in the item box, stay in the item box screen and swap out the grenade shells again. You'll see the 496 shells back in the item hax. Now move the 496 shells from the item box into an empty slot in your inventory and exit out of the item box. You'll still have the spare set of 496 shells—and you'll also have 240 shells in the Grenade Launcher if you pulled them from the first item spot the second time you combined them. If you have more than one set of unequipped shells, you can keep swapping them out between the first slot of the item box and the equipped Grenade Launcher to create more shells at any time.

TIPS & TRICKS may be the #1 Video-Game Tips Magazine, but even our most skilled cheat finders get stumped every once in a while. The following codes are known to exist in the games shown, but even after extensive testing, we still can't figure out what they do. (In some cases, they may not do anything.) If you can solve the mystery, you might win a prize....

NASCAR: DIRT TO DAYTONA

The Codes: Enter any of the following codes at the main menu; the menu text will disappear each time you enter a code:

- 1) Up, Down, Left, Right, R1, Right, Right
- 2) Up, Down, Left, Right, R1, Left, Right 3) Up, Down, Left, Right, R1, Right, Left
- 4) Up, Down, Left, Right, R1, Up, Down 5) Up, Down, Left, Right, R1, Down, Up

Note: On the GameCube, press Z instead of R1.

What We Know: One of these codes was submitted to Mystery Codes by reader Randy Quick of Lachine, Michigan; we found the other four by comparing his code to the known cheats in our PS2 Tips section. What do these codes do? Can you solve the mystery?

SPECIAL FORCES 2: BACK IN THE TRENCHES

The Code: Select "Password" from the main menu and enter the password "4748". What We Know: There's a very strong possibility that this password does nothing at all; the password system does accept the code, but you start at the first stage with the same number of lives as usual. It could be a super-secret cheat that alters the graphics, sounds or gameplay in some barely-perceptible way...and it could just be a password that starts you at the first stage with five lives. But we've got to throw the question out there anyway: Can you solve the mystery?

SUPER STAR WARS

The Code: When the words "Start Game" and "Option Menu" appear after the title screen, quickly press A, B, Y, X, B, B, X, X, Y and listen for the sound of a Jawa to confirm the code. Note that this code will only work the first time the main menu appears after you turn the game on; the LucasArts copyright must appear before the game is ready to accept the code, and you only get one chance to put it in before the demo starts. If you screw up, turn the power off, remove the cartridge and start over.

What We

Know: There are lots of known codes for Super

Star Wars-including a "master code" which seems to unlock several different cheats-but we can't figure out what this one does, 12 years after the game was originally released. We just discovered this code a few weeks ago! Can you solve the mystery?

Randell Causey of Dallas, Georgia was the only reader to figure out that Mystery Code #5 (from our May issue) refills your missiles in Airforce Delta Strike for the PlayStation 2. As Randell correctly explained, "this code only works one time per mission, so you should only use it when your missiles are gone or dangerously low." While we were testing Randell's findings, we also discovered another side effect: the code also refills your damage gauge. Congratulations, Randell; your hat is on the way!

Think you've got what it takes to beat the Tips & TRICKS editors at our own game? Test out these codes for yourself; if you're the first person to tell us exactly what they do, we'll send you your very own Thes & Tracks cap and print your name right here so all the world will know that you were the one who

ference in the game that results from entering the code so we can verify that your answer is correct. Send your answers to:

TIPS & TRICKS Mystery Codes 8484 Wilshire Blvd Suite 900 8everly Hills, CA 90211

Please note that these codes may not have any effect at all; there's a very strong possibility that they were left in the games inadvertently or that their effects were intentionally disabled before the games were released. However, we invite you to prove otherwise.
